Tubing Falls From Passing Train Into Coach

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) —A chunk of steel tubing fell from a passing freight train and crashed through a window of the Santa Fe Super Chief passenger train today, killing two persons.

Ten persons were taken to the Kingman Hospital. Five were hospitalized. The others were treated and released.

The dead were Marsha Diane McGaw, 16, of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Terry C. Kittleson, 35, of Barron, Wis.

Hospitalized were Lois McGaw, mother of the dead girl; Mrs. Kittleson's daughters, 3-year-old Julie and 7-year-old Joan; Mrs. Jillene Lowe of San Bernardino and her 4-month-old son, Scott.

Mrs. McGaw suffered from shock. The two girls had broken legs. Mrs. Lowe and her son suffered cuts from the flying glass.

Mrs. Helen Lowe of San Bernardino was traveling with her daughter Jillene and grandson. They were en route to Danville, Ill.

She said they were sitting directly across from the point where the tubing entered the passenger coach.

The beam was about 12 feet long, and 4 by 8 inches.

"There was a terrible crash and jolt," said Mrs. Lowe. "Everyone started screaming. I grabbed my daughter and baby and saw one woman lying in the aisle. She was dead."

A small girl was pinned in her seat by the tubing and welding torches were used to cut the chunk of steel from the train and free her.

Conductor F. E. Young said the steel probably jostled loose from the freight train.

"It struck the engine a glancing blow, then started a pinwheel and went through the window of the first chair car back of the baggage car," he said.

The accident occurred about 13 miles west of Kingman on a long downgrade near the California border in northwestern Arizona. The freight was westbound and the passenger train eastbound from Los Angeles to Chicago.

Lavish Party Honors 88th Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Johnson threw a lavish party Wednesday night to sing the praises of the 88th Congress.

but Sen. Barry Goldwater and most GOP leaders chose not to sing along with Lyndon. They didn't show.

Johnson invited all members of Congress — Democrats and Republicans — to join him in watching a fast-paced musical extravaganza on the White House lawn, then mix under lantern-festooned trees for small talk and vittles.

In between, he delivered a 15-minute speech praising the current Congress as constructive, compassionate and cooperative. "This session of Congress," he said, "has enacted more major legislation — met more national needs — disposed of more national issues — than any other session of this century or the last."

He emphasized that the record of the 88th Congress was written by "votes from both parties."

All the top congressional Democrats were on hand. But only Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the GOP whip, was present to represent the Republican hierarchy.

A temporary stage was set up on the lawn for the Broadway-style show produced especially for the occasion. In quick tempo, the professional cast socked out campaign songs of history, from "Tyler and Tippecanoe" to "I Like Ike."

One number was interrupted by a burst of spontaneous applause, when the singers and dancers came forward with Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign anthem, "Happy days Are Here Again."

Tricky Space Hurdle Over For Syncom

Another Critical Maneuver Ahead For Olympic Star

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The Syncom 3 "Olympic Star" satellite cleared a tricky space hurdle early today and headed for another critical maneuver later in the day.

The complex moves, controlled by radio command from the ground, are aimed at placing the spacecraft in a stationery orbit above the Pacific Ocean where it would be in position to televise the Olympic Games from Tokyo.

This afternoon, a station at Salisbury, Australia, was to trigger a small rocket aboard the satellite. The rocket was to fire a 19-second burst of energy to switch Syncom 3 from a wide-looping orbit ranging from 695 to 23,675 miles to a circular course in which both the high and low points will be about 23,000 miles up.

The action, scheduled to occur high above Sumatra, also would kick Syncom 3 into a seemingly stationary position in which it would appear to hover motionless over one area of the earth because its relative speed would match that of the earth's rotation.

Vote Canvass Begins

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) —The official canvass of Missouri's primary election voting started today in Secretary of State Warren E. Hearnes' office.

Hearnes, Democratic nominee for governor, borrowed accountants and auditors from State Auditor Haskell Holman to help in the county by county tally.

Austin Hill, deputy secretary of state, said the canvass probably won't be completed until Monday.

Mayors Ask More Money, State Help

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) —Missouri mayors want more money for their cities and they want the state to help them get it.

Mayors representing about half the state's population agreed on a four-point legislative program Wednesday, including a plan to have the state rebate to the cities a share of the state sales tax and income taxes.

This would require an increase in the two taxes. Previous tax sharing schemes have met with short shrift in the Legislature.

This time, if they can present a united front, Mayor Ilus W. Davis of Kansas City said, they would have a powerhouse behind them when they go before the Legislature.

The 35 mayors and city officials also agreed to seek: A constitutional change which

Hold Action Under Way By Farmers

NFO President Calls It Great Strength Show

CORNING, Iowa (AP) —The National Farmers Organization, complaining of depressed prices, has called for withholding of livestock from the market in a move for greater bargaining power.

The call to growers to keep their livestock off the market went out Wednesday to 23 states from the Rocky Mountains to the East Coast. A similar action was staged by the NFO for 33 days in 15 states two years ago.

"We want people to know where their pork chops and steaks come from and for farmers to receive a fair price," said Oren Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., NFO president.

"The drop in farm prices started some 12 years ago and is now part of a longtime trend," he said. "NFO has been making progress in the bargaining field. But this holding action will give farmers the opportunity to suddenly stop their punishment at the market place."

Staley, 41, in his ninth year as president, said the "action" will be by far the greatest show of bargaining power that American farmers have ever made.

The NFO, now in its 10th year, seeks to sign processors to contracts, thus assuring a steady flow of livestock to market at predetermined prices.

Doubts Senate Will Okay Bill On Reapportionment

Senator Dirksen Presses Showdown Senate Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) —Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen pressed today for a showdown in the congressional battle over reapportionment — and the Supreme Court — immediately after Democrats hold their national convention.

The Senate, already snarled by a filibuster against Dirksen's proposal for delaying court-ordered reapportionment by population of both houses of state legislatures, received a much tougher proposal from the House Wednesday.

Urged to show its "intestinal fortitude," the House approved 218 to 175 a bill that would strip federal courts of jurisdiction in reapportionment cases.

To try to push his proposal through, Dirksen has offered it as a rider to the $3.3-billion foreign aid bill, one of the measures on the administration's "must list."

Dirksen said the House measure would increase pressure in the Senate for adoption of his amendment and might shorten the fight Senate Democratic liberals are making to prevent a vote on his proposal.

"If the filibuster doesn't stop when Congress reconvenes after the Democratic National Convention next week," Dirksen told a reporter, "I'll have no choice but to file a cloture petition."

He said he was confident proponents could muster the necessary two-thirds majority of senators present and voting to bring the debate to an end.

Opponents of Dirksen's rider, including Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said they would continue their talkathon indefinitely.

The Senate recesses Friday night until Aug. 31. The Democratic National Convention opens Monday in Atlantic City, N.J.

Under the Senate rider, reapportionment would be delayed for up to two years "in the absence of highly unusual circumstances."

Dirksen has said its purpose is to "buy time" for congressional adoption of a constitutional amendment nullifying the Supreme Court decision.

23 Injured As Airliner Crash Lands

TONOPAH, Nev. (AP) — A twin-engine DC3 airliner carrying 35 persons on a flight from Burbank, Calif., to Hawthorne, Nev., crash-landed on a desert lake 10 miles southeast of Tonopah Wednesday night.

A Federal Aviation Agency spokesman said 20 of the 32 passengers and three crew members aboard were injured. At least two, the pilot and copilot, were seriously hurt.

Capt. Harold Hopkins, of the Burbank area, was reported in critical condition. He was pinned in the wreckage for two hours.

The craft was a scheduled airliner of Hawthorne-Nevada Airlines. Most of the passengers were on a trip to the big El Capitan Casino in Hawthorne.

The FAA said one engine failed when the plane was north of Beatty, Nev., 114 miles northeast of Las Vegas.

Girl Abducted, Still Missing; Driver Is Held

BULLETIN
CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind. (AP) — A Missouri girl kidnapped near Seymour, Ind., early Thursday was located unharmed at Cambridge City Thursday afternoon. She is Barbara Loflin, 17, Rt. 1, Catron, Mo.

SEYMOUR, Ind. (AP) — State police reported two Missouri hitchhikers identified a Seymour truck driver as the man who slugged their teen-age girl companion with a shotgun early today and carried her away in his car.

The officers said Guy Hopper, 30, was identified as the abductor, but Hopper said he had been drinking and couldn't remember anything about the incident.

UAW Picks Out Target For Strike

Contract Offers Turned Down By Auto Workers

CHICAGO (AP) — The Ford, General Motors and Chrysler councils of the United Auto Workers today rejected new contracts proposed by the Big Three and left it up to the union's 25-man executive board to call a strike against one of the firms.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther called a midafternoon news conference, apparently to report the executive board's decision.

The union is taking a strike vote among its members in all three companies.

A UAW spokesman estimated that the strike fund, providing an average of $25 per week in benefits to each worker, would support a strike up to eight weeks at GM, longer at Ford or Chrysler.

All the Big Three contracts are due to expire at midnight Aug. 31.

Union strategy, if precedent is followed, would then be to halt production with a mass walkout at the target company's plants, while extending contracts with the other two firms on a day-to-day basis.

The strikebound company would be hit when it hurts the most — just when 1965 models are beginning to roll out of the factories. Its competitors, meanwhile, would have the auto sales field virtually to themselves.

In 1961, GM was the primary target. Ford was singled out in 1955 and 1958.

Bargaining talks between the UAW and the Big Three have entered their eighth week.

The union rejected as "miserably inadequate" and "terribly disappointing" parallel offers by the companies Monday calling for higher wages, earlier retirement and larger pensions.

2 Americans Missing In East Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Three Americans were reported missing today in the eastern Congolese city of Bukavu, where messages said fights persisted between government soldiers and Communist-backed rebels.

The U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville said it was without word from its vice consul in Bukavu, Louis R. McCarlane, 25, of Seattle, and two Army officers attached to the U.S. military mission to the Congo.

The officers are Col. William A. Dodds, the 50-year-old counter-insurgency expert, and Lt. Col. Donald V. Rattan, 40, an infantry officer from Alexandria, Va.

The embassy said consulate officials lost track of the three men owing to the swiftness of the rebel advance into Bukavu Wednesday.

Consul Richard Matheron of Fresno, Calif., and the five other members of his staff radioed they were safe at Kamembe Airport, about three miles from Bukavu in the nearby Rwanda Republic.

Almost all of Bukavu's African quarters were in rebel hands, messages said.

Maintaining an airlift started Wednesday night, a planeload of Congolese reinforcements left Leopoldville this morning for Bukavu.

WASHINGTON—President Johnson cemented a major legislative victory today by signing into law a $947.5 million "War on Poverty" bill which he said will stimulate a "new era of progress" for those who have not shared in America's prosperity. ## Special Training Set for Volunteers

WASHINGTON (AP) — An experimental 3-year program for special training of volunteers who can't meet the Army's existing mental and physical requirements will start in November at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. The Army announced the site Wednesday and said basic combat training for regular recruits now done at Ft. Wood will be shifted to other centers.

An estimated 60,000 men will pass through the special training center in three years. Objective is to reduce reliance on the draft by increasing the number of volunteers who can qualify for enlistment.

There will be special courses to correct a man's deficiencies during a six-month to one-year interval.

The Weather

Mostly cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms tonight and Friday. Low tonight 68 to 72. High Friday 78 to 84.

The temperature Thursday was 74 at 7 a.m., and 71 at noon.

Low Wednesday night was 72, with 36 inches of rainfall. Total moisture for year, 30.60 inches.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 82, low 55; two years ago, high 103, low 75; three years ago, high 80, low 58.

Lake of Ozark stage: 54.7 feet; 5.3 below full reservoir; no change.

NEW COMMANDER — Brig. Gen. Richard N. Ellis, will assume command of the 17th Strategic Missile Division at Whiteman AFB in charge of command ceremonies at 11 a.m. Sept. 2. Gen. Ellis replaces Maj. ## Nuclear Arms Ban Bid By Soviet Union GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union said today it is prepared to sign a general treaty banning the use of nuclear weapons.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference such a treaty "would put an end to all nuclear aggression."

He expressed strong support for a proposal by Ethiopian Delegate Mikael Imru that the next U.N. General Assembly should convene a world conference to draft a treaty outlawing the use of nuclear weapons in war.

Western delegates immediately described the proposal as impractical and likely to create a false and dangerous sense of security.

Imru said the conference should take action to implement a 1961 U.N. resolution urging the United States and Russia to consider the possibility of a general ban on the use of nuclear arms.

The first Western speaker in the debate, Canada's Gen. E.L. M. Burns, said such a declaration was unlikely to be observed by states which felt their security was threatened.

Broken Exhaust In Ambulance Is Fatal to Patient

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A broken exhaust pipe on an air-conditioned ambulance caused the death of a 15-year-old girl and left her mother and a doctor unconscious Wednesday.

The girl, Brenda Nayler, of Holden, Mo., was being transported from a Warrensburg, Mo. hospital to Kansas City for treatment of cuts and a leg fracture suffered in a highway accident Saturday near Holden.

Brenda was dead and her mother, Mrs. Hirschel Nayler, and Dr. A. M. Ziegler of Holden were unconscious when the ambulance arrived.

James Rutlander, Jackson County deputy coroner, said the exhaust pipe on the ambulance had broken off at the muffler and a vent supplying air to the rear section of the vehicle was near the muffler. Rutlander said the victims' symptoms were similar to those of carbon monoxide inhalation and no autopsy would be performed.

Different vents supply air to the driver's section where the driver, Samuel B. Hopp of Holden, who was unharmed.

BROWNSBURG, IND. — Race driver Roger Ward's light plane is towed along Interstate 74 early today after the two-time "500" winner made an emergency landing near here late Wednesday. 43-year-old Ward, his wife,

Diane, 24, and their three-month-old son, Richard, escaped unhurt. The Wards were en route to Milwaukee where he is scheduled to drive in a stock car race today. (UPI Telephoto)

Line of Thinking

New Joint Chiefs Chairman Faces World Full of Tigers

EDITOR'S NOTE — As new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Earle Wheeler's views are important. Here, in his first interview, he talks of the Russian military strength, NATO, rockets, Viet Nam and other matters.

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the Pentagon office of Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, hangs a photograph showing him in South Viet Nam holding a live tiger by the jaws.

"That really is not a smile on my face," Wheeler said. "That is a look of apprehension."

For a man now confronted by a world full of tigers that would seem to be a reasonable attitude, especially toward those which have to be held by the tail.

Wheeler, former Army chief of staff, now holds one of the most important military jobs in the world.

As Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, the 56-year-old Wheeler is a principal military adviser to the President and the secretary of defense.

The lean, 6-foot-3-inch general gives the impression of a man who will stay in the background if possible.

People who have worked with Wheeler speak of him as "quick and brilliant... unfluffed and self-assured... articulate but not glib... a man who gets to know his Indians, regardless of rank."

Wheeler, a one-time mathematics instructor at West Point, can be expected to analyze before he acts.

What Wheeler says, does and thinks has a direct bearing on U.S. military posture and policies around the globe.

How does his thinking run? There was only one question Wheeler declined to discuss for publication. Should field commanders have authority to use atomic weapons if they felt it necessary?

Since this question may become a subject of sharp debate in the presidential political campaign, Wheeler said he did not feel it was in his province at this time.

Q — Should large nations involved in small wars assess the long range effect of that victory on the world balance of power?

A — "I think this has always been true. No war can be fought with any degree of purpose without a definite political objective."

"Most military plans today are drawn to support some national objective otherwise they are useless. If you undertake to fight a war you must take a long look down the road and see where you will be afterwards. You could win a war and lose the peace."

"Our objective in Southeast Asia is to have these people (the Communists) leave their neighbors alone. What we would like to achieve is adherence to the Geneva agreement — and that is a very limited objective."

The Geneva accord of 1954 divided Viet Nam into two parts along the 17th parallel. Both sides agreed to refrain from interfering with the internal affairs of the other.

Q — Strike Command is a unified Army-Air Force balanced force. So is the Marine Corps. Does this country need two such forces?

A — "I wouldn't say they were parallel so much as complementary. The Marines, in addition to being good land warfare soldiers — and they are good — are charged with amphibious warfare... just as the Army has the primary responsibility for airborne. Where one would be used instead of the other would be determined by area."

Q — How is it that the United States obtains only 16 combat divisions from 975,000 men whereas the Soviet Union reportedly has some 150 to 175 divisions among 2.5 million men? Is the Soviet figure inflated?

A — "Damn right it is inflated. A more reasonable figure would be something less than 80 combat ready divisions. Many of the reported 150 to 175 divisions are simply cadres — a few officers and men."

"The Soviets are a landlocked power, built to operate on the European land mass. Our Army is designed to operate anywhere in the world. The Soviets don't have to have many transport and port battalions. They plan to use civilian medical facilities. They don't require fifth echelon support — heavy equipment repair and maintenance depots in the rear. They can just send the stuff back to the factories in Russia."

"There is also a difference in philosophy of warfare. I know we put more emphasis on command — signal communications, for example — than do the Soviets. It gives us more effectiveness. But I am not trying to denigrate the Soviets. There is no doubt they are good soldiers."

Q — Can you envision a non-nuclear war in Europe?

A — "I would think so. You

Ambulance Serv. TA 6-8000

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. — Teamsters' president James Hoffa, holding brief press conference at swank ocean front hotel here Wednesday, tells newsmen that all he knows is "What I would have to know the how, the where and who is involved. As a matter of fact, that is one of the reasons for the presence of 7th Army in Europe. We want to give the President the maximum number of choices for response."

Q — In view of the reluctance of NATO nations to contribute to their own defense, why should we keep the 7th Army in Europe?

A — "Really there are several reasons. We long ago adopted a policy of collective security. Holding that the defense of Western Europe is important to the defense of the United States."

"We made a commitment that the United States would do its share in the defense of Western Europe. We have lived up to that agreement the moment the United States ceases to exert leadership in this area, this will be taken by our allies as a slackening off of our interest and they will have to undertake adjustments."

Q — Can the 7th Army maintain a high state of combat readiness with wives and children in its rear echelons?

A — "Actually the presence of dependents improves combat readiness. The 7th Army is the most combat ready force in the United States Army. It is the hardest training outfit in the world. Part of this readiness is due to attitude."

"Where dependents are present, the troops behave better and perform better. They don't have to sit around worrying about what is happening to mama and the kids — you know the kind of letters wives write. Mama and the kids are there. And we do have elaborate plans for evacuating dependents in an emergency."

"By sending their dependents, we can keep troops overseas for longer tours. This improves the cohesiveness of units."

Q — Can you foresee the day when the Army can maintain 16 combat divisions without resorting to the draft?

A — "I don't know. In order to do that you would have to have increased incentives of some kind of other. I'm sure you could find a solution or solutions. But I don't know what they are... there are so many imponderables it is difficult to get a hard and fast assessment."

Q — Has draft exemption caused the educational level of the Army to drop?

A — "I don't think so. Three quarters of the enlisted men today are high school graduates, and that is an increase of 27 per cent over 10 years ago. Seventy-three per cent of the officers have college degrees and more than 20 per cent have undertaken graduate study. I would predict that this percentage is going to increase."

Those who have served with Wheeler say his thinking often parallels that of his predecessor, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now Ambassador to Viet Nam, and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

He is cost conscious, something that would endear him to McNamara. He believes in the unified command concept and the theory of "flexible response" — something that would endear him to Taylor.

Vickie Mahan Is New Hope Queen For GA

A coronation service for Girl's Auxiliary, New Hope Baptist Church was held Aug. 9 at the church with Vickie Mahan, daughter of Mrs. Genevieve Mahan, 638 East 14th, as queen.

Members of the King's Court, in addition to the queen were: Teri Goff, flower girl; Donnie Ditzfeld, ringbearer; Dixie Baslee, Brenda Griffith, Peggy Shackles and Linda Wells, princesses; Giana Snyder and Dixie Shackles, ladies-in-waiting; Mary Lou McNish, Rita Pate, Florestine Smith and Susan Ulmer, maidens; Connie Simon and Sue Williams, candlelighters.

The Rev. Ted Francis, pastor, opened the service with scripture reading and prayer. Miss Judy Schmidt, accompanied at the organ by Miss Teresa Preuitt, sang "Have You Ever Seen the Star?"

The theme, "following the Star," based on "Star Ideals," was used in decorations and award presentations.

Mrs. Everett Preuitt was narrator, assisted by Mrs. Clay Holman, GA director, who presented awards. Warren Preuitt and John Schmidt were ushers.

Refreshments were served after the service by Woman's Missionary Service, which sponsors GA.

Miss Sue Glenn, Mrs. Bob Miller and Mrs. Tom Miller. Refreshments were served.

St. Louis GOP Rename Officers For Committees

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Each of St. Louis and St. Louis County's Democrat and Republican Central Committee chairmen were re-elected Tuesday, including County Democratic leader St. Sen. John J. Johnson.

A move by Wellston Mayor Leo Hayes and State Sen. Robert Young to oust Johnson failed. Johnson defeated Hayes for the chairmanship 21-11.

St. Louis Republican Central Committee Chairman Milburn Shaw and County GOP Central Committee Chairman, Donald J. Stohr, each won re-election. Neither was opposed.

Earlier Tuesday, veteran Democrat John J. (Jack) Dwyer won his sixth consecutive, four-year term as city Democratic Central Committee chairman. He has been city treasurer since 1938 and is a delegate to the Democratic national convention next week in Atlantic City.

Both Dwyer and Johnson supported Lt. Gov. Hilary Bush in the August 4 primary. However, the victorious Democratic candidate for Governor, Secretary of State Warren E. Hearnes, had said he would accept whomever the city and county central committees chose.

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago I began divorce proceedings against my husband. I know now I acted in a fit of anger and that I should have cooled off and given Mac another chance.

I foolishly disregarded the welfare of my family because I wanted to get even with him for hurting me.

The children cry for their father every day and I am a nervous wreck. The loneliness is unbearable. My older brother spent a fortune on detectives and lawyers and I've said so many spiteful things about Mac that I'm afraid I couldn't face my family if I took him back.

My head is bursting with advice from well-meaning friends. Can you give me some unbiased, common-sense guidance?—JUST PLAIN MISERABLE.

Dear J. P. Miserable: You don't want a divorce and you know it, so call off the proceedings at once. Forget about what family and friends will say. Consider only your needs and the needs of your children. Those who love you will understand. The others couldn't care less.

And let this be a lesson to wives who expect perfection from marriage. Any fool can run to family, friends and lawyers when the going gets rough. It takes maturity and courage to stay with a rocky situation and work things out.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a girl friend who sent for your booklet called "Necking and petting and How Far to Go." The booklet arrived in a plain envelope and your name was not on the outside which was a big relief to her. She read every word of it.

Three months later this girl had to get married. On the day of her marriage she was two months short of being 16 years old. Everybody was shocked.

What I want to know is why send out booklets to people if they don't do any more good than that?—WONDERING VICKY.

Dear Vicky: I'm sorry, dear, but I can't include a guarantee with every booklet that the advice will keep anyone out of trouble.

A girl who knows the facts stands a better chance of staying out of trouble than the girl who is ignorant. But knowledge is only half the battle. The other half is self control, and THIS I can't send in an envelope.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing this from boot camp.

A couple of days ago my family came down to the station to see me off. Just before I got aboard the train I shook hands with my dad and my brothers and kissed my mother and my aunt. My buddy was with me. After we got on the train he told me I should not have kissed my aunt on the lips.

My aunt is about 30 I guess, and has always been wonderful to me—like a big sister. I told my buddy I didn't think the kiss

I gave her was any different from the kiss I gave my mother. He said my aunt is quite a dish and I ought to "watch it"—for my own good.

Is my buddy right? Believe me, Ann, I never think of my aunt as a dish or anything close. How about it?—BOTHERED.

Dear Bothered: I see nothing wrong in kissing you aunt on the lips in the presence of other members of the family. One thing is certain, however, your buddy should never kiss HIS aunt that way.

Confidential to H. B. M.: You can't stop her. She is of legal age. Tell her for me that when everything else is gone, she'll have just one thing left. Experience.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON — (AP) — With four U.S. sentry satellites orbiting the earth it is no longer possible for a nuclear explosion in space to go undetected, a Defense Department expert reports.

"If the Russians fired anything we would know about it," Dr. R. L. Sproull, director of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency, told a National Space Club luncheon Tuesday.

The two U.S. satellites launched a month ago 65,000 miles above the earth and two similar satellites put into orbit last October are capable of detecting nuclear detonation more than 200 million miles out in space.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a tax settlement by which the government would acquire the Tarrytown, N.Y. mansion of railroad magnate Jay Gould and open it to the public.

It would also save the estate of Gould's daughter, Anna, Duchess de Talleyrand, about $700,000. She died in Paris in 1961.

Under the settlement the house would be transferred to the National Trust and be deductible as a charitable contribution from the estate valued at $1.3 million.

The Sedalia Democrat-Capital NEWSPAPERBOY HONOR ROLL

For July, 1964
SEDALIA WINNERS

Mark Wanserski

Mark Wanserski takes top honors among Sedalia route managers in his district for July. Mark has been on Route 75 since January 26, 1964, and already has earned many friends and a reputation for dependable service among his customers. He is the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wanserski, 1632 West 7th St. Next fall he will be a freshman at Sacred Heart High School. He lists his hobbies as swimming, gardening and reading, and participates in basketball and baseball. He has served as Altar Boy at Church and in the Schoolboy patrol in school.

Fred Bodenhamer

Taking first place in his district for July is Fred Bodenhamer, the 14 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bodenhamer, 1203 East 9th St. Since April, 1963, Fred has managed Route 105, and has turned in an outstanding performance. He seldom receives a complaint and his customers have come to rely on his friendly manner and courtesy. Fred enjoys horseback riding and swimming. Last year served as Captain of the Safety Patrol at Washington School and this fall he will be in the 8th grade at Smith-Cotton. He is a member of St. Patrick's Church.

AREA WINNERS

David Murray Lamonte

In his second month as the Democrat route manager in Lamonte, David Murray finishes in first place among managers in his district. David started managing the route on June 1, and already has demonstrated his ability in salesmanship and route building. His route has increased considerably due to his initiative in seeing prospective customers. The 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Murray, 401 South Myrtle, in Lamonte, David will be a senior at Lamonte High School this fall. In addition to his hobbies of hunting, camping, and fishing, he finds time to participate in baseball, basketball, and softball.

Charles Cockrum Lincoln

Charles Cockrum, the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cockrum of Lincoln, tops all other route managers in his area by a goodly margin. July was Charles' first full month on the Democrat route in Lincoln and he did outstanding work in route building and service. His route is at an all-time high and he continues to build his business. This fall he will be a freshman at Lincoln High School and is a member of the Lincoln Methodist Church. His hobbies are firearms and cars.

Newspaperboys are honored on the basis of route performance, including salesmanship, records, and service to subscribers.

Not all boys are listed, since certain standards of performance are required for qualification.

In addition to earning money, newspaper route management offers an opportunity to win friends, and to develop characteristics important in later years. Any boy interested in managing a Democrat route is invited to fill out a route application.

Chinese Win Round Over The Soviets

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Red Chinese have won an important round against the balked and frustrated Soviet Communists in a battle over who calls the shots among Communists of Asia and Africa.

Moscow virtually has thrown in the towel after a long struggle to force its way into the Communist-backed Asian-African solidarity organization.

The outcome has important meaning for Asia. Peking has enjoyed considerable success in keeping the door to Asian communism closed to the Soviet Union. This means the Russians have little influence, for example, on what takes place in a powderkeg situation such as Viet Nam.

The Kremlin, with little choice, had to bow out as gracefully as possible. To insist upon being recognized as an Asian nation and then be voted down by a Red Chinese majority would have been painful.

The fight concerned who would participate in a conference planned by the organization for next March. The first such conference was held at Bandung, Indonesia, in 1955, and the Russians attended.

Moscow says the Chinese opposed the Russians on racial grounds and even pictured the U.S.S.R. as if it were in the same category as "colonial powers with possessions in Asia and Africa." That stung badly.

Trying to make the best of it, Moscow sent messages to Asian and African governments, saying "the Soviet Union cannot allow the question of its invitation to be embarrassing for Afro-Asian countries, and especially its use by anyone for sowing discord among them."

Moscow bowed out. The message said Moscow didn't take the initiative in raising the question of its attendance in the first place. Perhaps it didn't, but the Kremlin obviously wanted an invitation, and complained the Red Chinese blocked it by "a dishonest game."

This battle has raged a long time. The Soviets date it to 1962 and what they call "the tragic conflict on the frontiers" between Red China and India, and Red China's "narrow nationalism."

Early in 1963 at Moshi, Tanganyika, the Chinese, apparently with unlimited money at their disposal, tried to seize control of an Asian-African meeting, and had a fierce clash with the Russians. It seemed pretty much a draw. Then, in September, the Russians tried to ram through an approval of their partial nuclear test ban treaty. They were defeated in a meeting of the solidarity organization at Nicosia, Cyprus.

In April, the group held another preparatory meeting in Indonesia. Soviet participation was proposed. Russian-hating Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi engineered the burial of that proposal and the Russians were furious. They took their case directly to Asian and African governments with special messages.

They have just done this again, in what appears an attempt to go over the heads of delegations whose Communist members seem to be in the hands of the Chinese.

"It is obvious that if some forces, proceeding from their factional goals, do not wish the Soviet Union to attend the conference," the Soviet message fumed, "this harms the national liberation movement."

The "national liberation movement" is Communist language for revolutionary movements in underdeveloped countries subject to seizure by the Communists.

Evidently Red China, North Korea, North Viet Nam, the Japanese Communists and others ganged up on the Russians. If Moscow were invited, they would refuse to attend the meeting, and there would be no solidarity meeting.

The Russians lost, and they know it.

Cave-in Kills Two In a Deep Ditch

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—A cave-in took the lives of two men who were laying water pipe in a deep ditch in downtown Springfield Wednesday.

They were James Stewart, 39, of Dunegan, Mo., and Joseph Day, 22, of Chadwick, Mo.

Fellow workers dug the two victims out quickly but they died soon afterward.

Underground A-Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission conducted an underground nuclear test Wednesday at its Nevada test site. It was the 12th such test this year and the first since July 16.

Air Base Commander Lions Speaker

Col. Walter T. Eisenbrown, Commander 351st Combat Squadron, Whiteman Air Force Base, was the principal speaker at the Sedalia Lions Club Wednesday noon meeting. Col. Eisenbrown gave an "up-dated" talk on the Minuteman Missile project during which several slides were shown of the present missile concept.

In his talk he told of the base personnel being between 3,700 and 4,000. He explained the payroll for 1964 fiscal year averaged $158,000 per month, and in 1965 fiscal year it will average about $205,000, or a four per cent increase. The military payroll in 1964 per month averaged $1,047,824 and for the 1965 fiscal year will average about $1,100,000.

He explained, "Should an attack be made on the United States, about 15 minutes would be allowed to prepare for any missile attack, but within seconds after the warning is received, the many Air Force installations would be notified, and within a matter of seconds, our own defense missiles will be on their way." He compared the Minuteman complex with other missiles, explaining the Minuteman is the latest and more practical than either the Atlas or Titan ICBM's.

Col. Eisenbrown also told the Lions the men who are in charge, are all college or university graduates, and this week began their studies in MU classes at Whiteman AFB through which they will earn a masters degree.

He reviewed what Whiteman AFB means to local communities explaining everything possible which can be obtained locally is purchased through business firms of the community.

An improvement on which construction has started is the new hobby and woodshop at a cost of $117,000, on the base which replaces the building destroyed by fire several months ago.

Lt. Gilbert P. Knier, information service officer, spoke briefly and told of tours being made available to the public of the missile control centers and various other points of interest in connection with the program. Also tours being set up for civic clubs and others.

He called attention to a program being arranged for Saturday Oct. 17, at the base during which time the Thunderbirds, aerial team, will make several

Four Children Drown

CORNWALL, N.Y. (AP) — All four children of Mr. and Mrs. John Perrone drowned Wednesday after Dolores, 12, fell into a creek and her three brothers, John Jr., 13, Tony, 10, and Rocco, 5, jumped in to save her.

None of the four could swim.

flights over the base to entertain visitors.

Program chairman for the Lions meeting was Ralph Sprague.

Guest at the meeting was Nick Henry, of Past President William Hiatt.

President James McNeil announced the revival of the Lions Pet Show to be held Saturday, Sept. 19. John Mais was named chairman of the project.

There being five Wednesday's in September, plans were discussed to accept an invitation to visit the base one meeting day and take a Missile tour.

Past President Neil Chapman is in charge of arrangements.

It was announced by Tom Baker, Zone Chairman, a zone meeting is being scheduled soon and the next District Cabinet meeting may be scheduled at Whiteman Air Force Base.

Baker, with District 26G Cabinet Secretary E. B. Smith, and Public Relations Chairman, D. Kelly Scruton, with their wives attended a cabinet meeting at Unity Inn Farm in Kansas City last Sunday. Smith and Scruton are both International Counsellors.

Scouting May Become Job For the Birds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is wondering whether the job of scouting out a hidden enemy may be for the birds. It is paying something more than chicken feed to find out.

The research program already has winged into its second phase.

The results of an initial feasibility study on birds' reconnaissance potential so encouraged Army scientists at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground that a $174,472 contract has been signed with the General Atomics Corp. of Philadelphia.

When the Army awarded the contract, it would say only that it was a "research program of training birds for field surveillance" and that "the project is classified."

A spokesman went a bit farther today in answering questions. "The initial program was a study of the learning ability of birds. In this case, the study was to determine whether a bird can be taught to recognize the presence of a person and, if so, would the bird perform characteristic action indicating such recognition," the spokesman said.

"The feasibility study indicated positively that a bird can be

Dooley's Mother Dies In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Dooley, who helped carry on the medical missionary work of her famous son, died of complications Wednesday. She was 69.

Mrs. Dooley entered St. Marys Hospital Aug. 8 after an illness of about six weeks.

Her son, Dr. Tom Dooley, who died at the age of 34 in Jan., 1961, became world famous for his medical aid to backward nation villages in Asia, Africa, South America and the Middle East.

After his death, his mother carried on, promoting and raising funds for MEDICO, a non-profit organization co-founded by her son to bring medical aid to the needy throughout the world.

Mrs. Dooley is survived by two other sons, Malcolm and Edward.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

taught and that a bird will perform a characteristic response indicating recognition of the presence of a person.

"On the basis of this, a further study is being initiated."

This was about as far as the spokesman was willing to go. Hunters have long believed that crows, and perhaps some game birds, have a system of surveillance and communicate warnings of peril to the flock.

Few Switch To Private Club Status

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Only a small percentage of businesses in the South have turned into private clubs to avoid integration since enactment of the civil rights law.

An Associated Press survey showed scattered instances of restaurant — and one hotel — changing to restricted memberships as a means of keeping out Negroes.

In Mississippi 13 businesses have been issued private club charters by the secretary of state since the new law was signed by President Johnson last July 2.

"If I took Negro customers, I would go out of business," explained one businessman. "If I didn't, I would be in trouble with the government. This way the club selects its members and we avoid trouble."

In Jackson, Miss., the Robert E. Lee Hotel obtained a private club charter but has not disclosed details of its planned operation.

In Little Rock, Ark., the state capitol cafeteria was incorporated as a private club shortly after the civil rights law was enacted. An aide to Gov. Orval E. Faubus serves as corporation president.

The AP survey showed only half a dozen switches in Alabama which Negro leaders last spring labeled a major desegregation target.

A restaurant near Rocky Mount, Va., became a private club but the owner said the decision had nothing to do with the law. A tavern in Norfolk turned private more than a year ago to avoid serving Negroes.

In Georgia, segregationist Lester Maddox closed his Atlanta restaurant rather than comply with a federal court order to integrate. Maddox said he had been considering a private club operation but no decision has been made.

Negroes have gone to court against private clubs in Texas and North Carolina.

Barry Willing To Face LBJ On Television

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater was described today as willing to face President Johnson in a television series proposed by the National Broadcasting Co.

Goldwater's press secretary, Paul Wagner, said the Arizona senator wouldn't be interested in a format that would have the presidential contenders appear separately.

Johnson was silent on the NBC invitation to put him and Goldwater — jointly or separately — on the air in a full hour series of "Meet the Press" television programs.

NBC board chairman Robert W. Sarnoff outlined the offer in identical telegrams to Goldwater and Johnson. He said the plan was designed to substitute for actual television debates.

Goldwater could not be reached for comment, but Wagner said the Republican nominee "would accept on a face-to-face basis only."

"Separate appearances is hardly a debate," the press secretary said.

Meanwhile, Republican National Chairman Dean Burch charged Senate Democrats obviously were operating on instructions from Johnson when they rolled up a party line majority Tuesday night to kill legislation aimed at paving the way for debates on radio and television by suspending the "equal time" requirement for the presidential campaign.

"I can understand why President Johnson desires to avoid debating Sen. Goldwater, having seen the President on television several times," Burch said.

He said the Republican National Committee is willing to put up half the cost of television time if Johnson will agree to appear with Goldwater.

Goldwater, in a speech at the Illinois State Fair Wednesday, declared: "I am willing to debate and I'm willing to pay for the time."

Later, Goldwater told reporters "the Republican party will pay for it. We'll buy the time."

He estimated it would cost about $500,000 to air a debate on three television networks.

Sarnoff proposed a series of six programs, two of them for appearances by Rep. William E. Miller, the Republican vice presidential nominee, and the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

He said the programs would be scheduled Sunday nights on the NBC radio and television networks, between early September and Election Day.

NBC offered to make them available to other networks.

Study Cosmic Data Gathered By Balloon

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP)—Scientists are studying cosmic ray data obtained by a huge balloon that drifted 300 miles across Missouri and Kansas Wednesday at an altitude of 24 miles.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration team launched the 200-foot-tall balloon at Moberly, then tracked it west to near Concordia, Kan., where its 135-pound instrument package was dropped by parachute.

The release was triggered by a radio signal, which also deflated the balloon. When the instrument package hit the ground its parachute dragged it across a field to a road right in front of the truck in which the trackers were riding.

Donald Kniffen, NASA physicist, termed the flight successful.

"We didn't try to recover the balloon," Kniffen said. "It will make some farmer a nice cover for his haystack."

Weary Firefighters Finally Whip Blaze

ELKO, Nev. — (AP) — Bone-weary professional fire fighters prepared to go home today after subduing Nevada's worst range fires.

Behind them, they leave: — More than 350,000 acres of charred rangeland. Much of it was valuable to northeastern Nevada stockmen for grazing their cattle.

— An undetermined number of cattle lost, fences burned and minor ranch buildings damaged.

Many of the men had been on the line since Saturday. A crew of 111 men was still posted on the worst and most stubborn blaze, the 200,000-acre Boulder Flat-Maggie Creek fire which burned a stretch of grass and sagebrush 75 miles long to the west and northwest of Elko.

Goldwater Avoids Trap Into Silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater left the door open today for intelligence briefings from President Johnson's advisers — but said he is not going to be trapped into campaign silence about things he already knows.

"I will ask for intelligence briefings when I feel they are needed," the Republican nominee for president said Wednesday in an interview.

Goldwater indicated he has no plans now to ask for such sessions.

Johnson offered intelligence briefings last April to all the Republican contenders for the presidential nomination.

Goldwater rejected the offer. He said secret briefings could stifle legitimate campaign debate.

But he said then that if he won the Republican nomination he would expect the administration to provide "the regular briefings made available to other candidates in the past."

The Arizona senator coupled his remarks Wednesday on administration briefings with a new slap at an old campaign target, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

He accused the Pentagon chief of making public top secret information "that I have held respect for" in challenging Goldwater's statements on defense matters.

Goldwater told newsmen his early campaign speeches are going to be aimed in large measure at clearing up what he views as wrong impressions left by the Republican primary campaign.

He said Govs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York — his chief rivals for the nomination — "have done me more harm than Johnson could ever do me."

The senator said his early

Tass Carries Rosy Items About USSR

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass often presents a rosy picture of the way things are going in the Soviet Union, while emphasizing troubles the rest of the world is having.

Although papers here frequently publish stories about Soviet crime, corruption, bureaucratic inefficiency and other domestic problems, such items seldom find their way onto the Tass wire.

On a typical day, for example, Moscow daily papers, published stories on the following subjects:

Soda vending machines that don't work.

Lax controls that encourage embezzlers of state property.

Complaints about spotty press coverage of new technical developments.

Factory directors who force workers to put in overtime without pay in order to fulfill monthly plan targets.

A young man convicted on charges of illegally selling study aids to students preparing for university entrance exams.

Poor organization of working hours of Soviet army officers.

Criticism of army officers' behavior.

And two stinging anti-alcoholism pieces.

None of the stories appeared on the Tass domestic or foreign wires.

However, similar items from the West are eagerly passed through the agency's two-way censorship screen to make up the bulk of its foreign news coverage.

The government-run news agency also gives heavy play to Western labor strikes, accidents and disasters and political troubles.

Tass fulfills its assigned role as chronicler of the Soviet march to communism by churning out a seemingly endless stream of glowing reports of new economic and social achievements.

Favorable comment about the Soviet Union by foreign visitors and tourists is transmitted in bulk quantities on the overseas wire to foreign subscribers.

One of Tass' main functions is laying down the latest Kremlin line on important policy matters in the form of Tass statements, commentaries, and party-government documents.

Tass, therefore, is carefully studied abroad for switches or modifications of Soviet policies.

campaign speeches will be designed in part to straightening out incorrect impressions about his views on war and peace, income taxes, Social Security and other issues.

"Impressions arising from what Scranton and Rockefeller said about you?" a reporter asked.

"Yes," the senator said.

Well-Beaten Trail Leads To Nature at Lonesomest

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A sandy road from our town wound over a rickety bridge across a backwater slough, coursed through cotton fields to a rusty iron bridge before giving way to a trail trodden by every kid in the community.

The trail led to nature at its lonesomest and an outdoor sport phenomenon rapidly disappearing from the American scene — the Old Swimming Hole.

Even the farmers who owned land surrounding it knew that the crook in the creek which formed the hole was there for a special purpose. It belonged to kids, the kids alone.

Those who had cotton planted along the trail ignored inroads made by feet on carefully hoed rows.

Watermelons were sturdily fenced. And there was gossip of shotgun shells well crammed with salt flew.

But to no avail. Many a watermelon was cooled in the waters of that sandy creek bottom.

The modern pool cannot match the contraptions with which the old swimming hole was equipped. No diving board with safety matting can compete with a vine hung by nature from a tree as a way to get into the water.

Even nature couldn't stand the onslaught of youngsters and the vine gave way eventually to a steel cable strung across the creek, a pipe slipped onto it and grease to make sliding into the water fast and dangerous.

Then there was the automatic swimming teacher, which played a part in teaching half the kids (more if they ever dared admit it to their parents) how to at least survive in the water.

This consisted of an old abandoned wooden boat with just enough holes in it to keep it from sinking while being pushed to the middle of the creek, one dubious boy aboard.

It was abandoned with gleeful cries, "swim or sink," and the pupil usually swam. If he didn't, there were always boys on hand to pull him out.

Games ranged from underwater tag, using rocks pounded together for signals, to diving in early in the morning to chase alligator gar.

The old swimming hole revisited is a disappointment.

It has been moved out of the wilderness and the road improved so the kids can drive their low slung sports cars to it. There's a diving board, and ropes to mark off the "dangerous sections" (any kid knew by experience where these areas were in the old hole.) And no leaky boat.

Worse, there were adults.

New GOP Chairman Takes Over

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Spanish-style home with its encircling red-brick wall, wrought-iron gate and shaded patios still had the smell of newness. A picture window framed the desert reaching to the Santa Catalina Mountains in the distance.

On a table was a magazine, dog-eared and soiled along the pages that told of the recent Republican National Convention that nominated Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater for president.

Stretched across the combined length of an easy chair and foot stool was the new chairman of the Republican National Committee — Tucson attorney Roy Dean Burch.

"I was always the shortest and fattest kid in my grade school classes," he said, "so never was much at sports. I had a miserable high school record. Guess I was fortunate to graduate. Didn't have much interest in politics either until I ran for the University of Arizona Student Council as a junior. I lost by seven votes.

"A week ago I wasn't even real sure how the national chairman was appointed."

But he was not at all hazy on what the chairman was supposed to do.

At his first news conference, Burch said "The Goldwater-Miller campaign will be coordinated through the Republican National Committee."

Burch, with his taste for informal dress and formal organization, was credited by many as being the brains behind Goldwater's winning drive for the nomination.

It was Burch who personally directed the senator's final two weeks in the victorious California primary. It was Burch who had a major voice in reshaping Goldwater's campaign procedures after the failure in New Hampshire, where Henry Cabot Lodge scored an impressive victory.

The 36-year-old Burch, who outgrew his childhood fatness to become a lean, 170 pound, six-footer, seems untroubled by the responsibilities of the GOP national chairmanship.

His new job, which pays $30,000 a year, means working out of party headquarters in Washington and spending much time on the road.

He's leaving his adopted Tucson for what Burch says is a new challenge and an intense loyalty to Goldwater.

"You can't realize the absolute goodness of Senator Goldwater in relationship to other people," he said. "He took me in as an employee several years ago without my having influential parents, any political drag, or any known ability to aid his senate career."

He was born in Enid, Okla., the only child of Bert and Leona Burch. His mother was a school teacher, his father an employee of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

"He was just a normal, happy little boy who had all the childhood diseases," his mother says. "He never was much of a problem. He talked early and started reading early and hasn't stopped yet."

By the time he was ready for the third grade, the family moved to Leavenworth, Kan. His father, who died six years ago, was a guard in the army disciplinary barracks at Ft. Leavenworth.

Five years later, the Burchs moved to San Francisco where the father was a guard at Alcatraz.

This island in San Francisco Bay became Burch's hometown from 1941 until he left for the service in early 1946.

One Billion Annually

Canada Losing Money Dealing With The US

By DON HANRIGHT
Canadian Press Correspondent

OTTAWA (AP) — Since 1955 Canada has been losing more than a billion dollars a year in transactions with the United States.

About half the deficit comes from normal merchandise trade. The rest is a net Canadian loss on tourist spending, payment of dividends and interest to U.S. investors, shipping and so on.

It is a burden for a country with a tenth the U.S. population.

If this steady drain doesn't panic Canadians, it is because the deficit usually can be covered, or nearly so, in two ways:

1. By Canadian trade surpluses in Europe and Asia, surpluses fattened by wheat sales to the Soviet Union and Red China.
2. By importing foreign capital, mostly from the United States. Canada still needs this money, and the technical know-how that comes with it, both for direct investment in industries and for investment in Canadian securities.

Obviously, if the capital stops flowing into Canada, the country is plunged into deep trouble with its international payments.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's government hopes to reduce the trade deficit — without ranking Americans, and thus inviting some form of retaliation. Moves so far can be explained by the character of trade.

Traditionally, Canada has supplied raw materials to the world — the products of mines, forests and farms. Postwar business boomed until after the Korean War when world demand for primary products declined and Canadian unemployment rose.

Manufacturing capacity has grown steadily. It got a boost in 1962 when the Canadian dollar was devalued to 92½ cents in terms of the U.S. dollar, giving Canadian manufacturers a competitive advantage.

The answer, as the Pearson government sees it: Increase Canadian sales of manufactured goods to the United States.

From the Canadian viewpoint, there are major obstacles. Many Canadian manufacturers consider U.S. tariffs a formidable wall because they can't achieve the "economies of scale" of their American cousins, that is, the ability to lower costs by producing in volume for a big domestic and export market.

Also, Americans control about 60 per cent of Canadian manufacturing. Many of the biggest companies are wholly owned in the United States. The parent firms don't want foreign subsidiaries competing with them for the attention of American consumers.

Free CORE Members On a Technicality

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Seven Congress of Racial Equality members were released in Municipal Court Wednesday on a legal technicality over a charge of disorderly conduct.

The seven were arrested inside the Parkway Bowling Club June 26 after they were refused service and declined to leave or sit down.

Their attorney, Leonard Hughes, argued the ordinance under which they were charged mentioned interference and obstruction but never declared such acts to be unlawful.

Judge Louis A. Tritico agreed with Hughes and dismissed the case.

Union Pacific Offer Is Scheduled Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — The Union Pacific Railroad said Wednesday it planned to send "around Labor Day" its formal exchange offer for control of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad to Rock Island stockholders.

Union Pacific said it would petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval at about the same time. The road is competing with the Chicago & Northwestern Railway for control of the Rock Island.

Union Pacific is offering exchange of Rock Island common for a new $1.80 Union Pacific preferred share convertible at any time into 0.85 share of Union Pacific common. The offer also includes an assured dividend return of $1.80 a share on the new preferred stock for three years from the date of the exchange.

Plankton Population Makes Sea Tide Red

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — An Orange County life-guard wrinkled his nose at the Pacific Ocean and commented: "The water looks like root beer."

The red tide, an overabundance of tiny sea creatures called plankton, moved south to Newport Beach Wednesday, and stretched sticky fingers all the way to Laguna Beach, seven miles down the coast.

The red tide has been plaguing beaches in the Los Angeles area for several weeks.

State fish and game authorities say the one-cell organisms, called conyaulax polyhedra, over-multiply when the ocean water is unusually warm.

Fires In City

Firemen listed a cigarette or match as the possible cause of a fire which caused slight damage to the interior of a 1949 Cadillac, owned by James Mitchell, 108 West Jefferson, at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

The Sedalia Fire Department extinguished a shed fire at the Lester Rosenhan residence, 1620 South Brown, at 6 p.m. Wednesday. The siding on a shed at the Ernest Campbell residence, 1617 South Montgomery, also caught fire. No damage was recorded and the cause was listed as burning boards near the first shed.

Fire did approximately $900 damage to a shed, its contents and a 1955 Buick parked in the shed at 11:22 a.m. Wednesday at the Ruth Dinsmore residence, 212 West Jefferson. Sedalia Firemen listed the possible cause of the fire as burning trash.

Damage was estimated at $250 to the shed, $150 to its contents, and $500 to the car.

Sedalia firefighters extinguished some burning trash at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday behind a warehouse in the 700 block of South Hancock. No damage resulted.

Florine Grechus, 906 West Fifth, charged with running a stop sign, forfeited a $5 bond.

Albert Murphy, 610 West Sixth, charged with disturbing the peace on complaint of Carol Brosch, forfeited a $25 bond.

Accidents

A truck unable to stop on rain-slick Highway 65 jack-knifed and struck the rear of an auto one-tenth of a mile north of the Warsaw spur at 10:45 a.m. Thursday.

The Highway Patrol said a 1964 Chevrolet, being driven north by Joe Elsea, 31, Route 1, Buckner, Mo., stopped for traffic ahead.

A 1957 Mack tractor and trailer unit, being driven north by William Rippee, 32, Ava, Mo., was unable to stop on the wet pavement, the patrol said, and struck the rear of Elsea's auto.

Elsea was treated by Dr. Guss Salley in Warsaw and released after treatment.

Wet pavement was blamed for a collision which damaged two autos at Broadway and Grand at 8:52 a.m. Thursday.

Involved, police said, were a 1962 Pontiac, driven west on Broadway by Charles Paxton, 49, Jefferson City, and a 1950 Chevrolet, driven south on Grand by Floyd Perry, 305 East Pettis.

Paxton told officers as he was traveling west the light changed and he was unable to stop in time due to the wet surface of the pavement. Damage was listed to the right side of the Paxton auto and to the front end of the Perry vehicle.

Wilmer England, 19, Cross Timbers, escaped injury at 11:00 a.m. Thursday when a right inside dual tire blew out causing the truck he was driving to veer into the ditch and overturn on Highway 65 in Benton County.

The Highway Patrol said the accident occurred 2.2 miles south of Route 83 on Highway 65. England was southbound in a 1961 Dodge grain bed truck.

A tractor-trailer truck jack-knifed and collided with an auto on Highway 65 just south of Sedalia at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, resulting in minor injury to one passenger in the car.

Highway Patrol Trooper Pete Stohr said a 1961 Ford tractor-trailer, driven north by Robert Dunbar, 47, Fairfield, Tex., came over the hill at Hillcrest Bowling Alley and the tractor jack-knifed due to slick pavement.

A 1961 Chevrolet sedan, being driven south by Marvin Hickman, 28, Mill Grove, Mo., pulled onto the shoulder, but the tractor-trailer hooked the left rear bumper of the auto as it passed.

Mrs. E. B. Hickman, mother of the driver of the auto, was taken to Bothwell Hospital and treated for bruises to her right hip. She was released after treatment.

Both vehicles were able to be removed from the scene by the drivers.

A Sedalia sustained an apparently minor injury in a two-car collision at the intersection of Highway 13 and Interstate 70 in Lafayette County at 9:35 a.m. Thursday.

Involved, according to the Highway Patrol, were a 1956 Ford, driven by Joan Dinnel, 32, Gallatin, and a 1963 Plymouth, driven by John Bergmann, 33, 423 East 13th.

The patrol said the Dinnel auto was southbound on Highway 13, made an improper left turn by cutting the corner in the path of the Bergmann auto, which was northbound. The vehicles collided head-on in the northbound lane.

Bergmann sustained a laceration to the mouth, the patrol said, and Mrs. Dinnel suffered a laceration to the left knee. They were both treated at the Higginsville Clinic and released.

An elderly Minnesota man was injured at 10 a.m. Thursday when his auto left the road on a curve north of Warsaw on Highway 65.

Charles Cunningham, 82, Park Rapids, Minn., was brought to Bothwell Hospital and treated for a fractured right knee and cuts and abrasions to the head. The hospital said he was to undergo surgery and his condition was not immediately available.

Highway Patrol Trooper Pete Stohr, who assisted Trooper J. M. Cummings of Warsaw in the investigation, said Cunningham was northbound in a 1949 Chevrolet at the time of the accident. The auto apparently went out of control on the curve and left the road, Stohr reported.

The drivers of two cars which collided nearly head-on just north of Warsaw on Highway 65 at 10:30 a.m. Thursday sustained serious injuries, but both are now listed in good condition at Bothwell Hospital here.

Involved, according to the Highway Patrol, were a 1961 Ford sedan, driven north by William Holdman, 24, Richland, Mo., and a 1962 Chevrolet pick-

Anti-Poverty Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law today the $947.5-million anti-poverty bill intended to improve living conditions for millions of Americans.

The ceremony climaxed a long fight for the most important piece of legislation originating in the Johnson administration after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The President gave it highest priority on his 1964 program behind the civil rights and tax-cut bills.

Sponsors said it would supplement the civil rights measure because many of the beneficiaries would be low-income Negro families and jobless Negro youths.

The poverty measure wraps up a bundle of programs designed to give jobs to idle youth, help low-income families get off relief and provide literacy and job training.

Some of these, such as the Youth Conservation Corps, had been pushed in previous sessions but never cleared both branches of Congress.

up truck, driven south by Eugene Sims, 41, Clinton.

Highway Patrol Trooper Pete Stohr, who assisted Trooper J. M. Cummings of Warsaw in the investigation, said the collision occurred on a curve.

Both drivers were brought to Bothwell Hospital. Holdman sustained a fractured right knee cap and a fracture to the left shoulder blade.

Sims suffered injuries to both knees, legs and ankles and one hand. The hospital said he was to undergo surgery.

Ed Roar, 510 North Prospect, was injured by an accidental gunshot wound shortly after 1 p.m. today, when a .22-caliber pistol he was carrying in his pocket discharged.

The bullet struck Roar in the right leg, inside the calf, where it lodged. Roar was taken to Bothwell Hospital in the Gillespie ambulance, where he was treated by Dr. A. R. Maddox.

Police Chief Bill Miller said his investigation showed Roar was sitting at the table, when he remembered the gun in his pocket, and decided to remove it. As he was taking the gun out of his pocket, it accidentally discharged, Miller said.

Four-year-old Julie Ann Strode, Wilson's Trailer Court, received only minor scratches in a brush with a 1961 Ford in the 2700 block on West Broadway at 5:40 p.m. Wednesday. She was taken to the Bothwell Hospital in an Ewing ambulance and given emergency treatment by Dr. H. O. Wilbur. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Strode.

According to the police investigation the car was being driven west on Broadway by Edwin C. Davis, 21, Route 2, Knob Noster.

According to reports he had his car slowed to the degree the impact just tapped the girl enough to knock her down. She was walking across Broadway headed north at the time of the accident.

Davis received a police summons for careless and imprudent driving and is to appear in police court Aug. 21.

Circuit Court

Glenn Tiske was granted a divorce from Marian Tiske on a cross-bill in Circuit Court Thursday. Donald Barnes was his attorney. William F. Brown was her attorney.

Vivian G. Walter filed a petition for divorce against Marvin V. Walter in Circuit Court Wednesday. Wesner. Wesner and Meyer represent the plaintiff.

Police Reports

A red transistor radio valued at $25 was reported stolen by Evelyn Scrimager, 510 East 28th. She reported the theft to police Wednesday and reported that it occurred at a laundromat near 15th and Ohio.

Magistrate Court

William F. (Sonny) Penn, 25, 116 East Pettis, drew a jail sentence of 10 days after he pleaded guilty in Magistrate Court Thursday morning to driving with no operator's license.

Penn had appeared in court before Judge Frank Armstrong just two weeks ago on an identical charge.

Trooper William Southwick arrested him on July 24 for having no operator's license and he paid a fine of $5 plus court costs on his appearance in court on Aug. 5. The following day, Aug. 6, Sedalia police arrested him for an improper driving charge and as he still had no operator's license, Trooper Southwick issued him another summons.

Besides the jail sentence, Penn also must pay court costs of $10.50.

Reunion On Sunday

The McNeal reunion will be held Sunday, Aug. 23, at the west shelter house at Liberty Park.

Rights Issue Threat To Demo Unity

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Democratic platform drafters were optimistic today that a party-splitting fight over a civil rights plank can be avoided.

As the platform committee moved here to wind up hearings begun in Washington, members from both the North and South spoke hopefully of reaching agreement on a generally acceptable plank.

The civil rights issue, however, may spark a sharp fight in another area — the seating of delegates from Mississippi and Alabama.

The platform drafters' optimism was due in large part to testimony by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy that he saw no need for a platform promise to seek new civil rights laws. He said he felt the 1964 Civil Rights Act was broad enough to cover the party's 1960 pledges in this field.

Civil rights leaders in their testimony emphasized enforcement of the 1964 act and legislation to provide more and better job opportunities for Negroes, rather than new civil rights measures.

However, Frederick G. Duton, the White House aide who is executive director of

New Minuteman Education Program

Nearly 200 officers of the Strategic Air Command Minuteman installation at Whiteman Air Force Base, are integrating classroom graduate studies into their military duties as on-base students of the University of Missouri.

They are enrolled in the University's new "Minuteman Education Program" established at the base under contract with the Air Force Institute of Technology to provide professional level graduate study for missile combat crew officers of the Strategic Air Command installation.

The officers, who were enrolled in the program after volunteering and qualifying as graduate students, are offered a Master of Business Administration degree from the University's School of Business and Public Administration in cooperation with the University's Graduate School, for successful completion of the program. Dean Pinkney C. Walker of the School of Business and Public Administration said the first graduation of successful M.B.A. candidates among the officers is expected in 1968.

The classes in the new "Minuteman Education Program" formally started Aug. 14, and are being held on a special campus at Whiteman Air Force Base near Knob Noster. Dean Walker said that a fully-qualified resident faculty has been provided by the University, and that the standards for admission to the M.B.A. Program are the same as for Master of Business Administration degree candidates on the campus at Columbia. Performance standards are also the same.

He said that in addition to the broadly based studies characteristic of the M.B.A. requirements, the program provides a concentration in industrial management supported by fields of computer utilization and statistics.

Dr. Robert G. Cook, associate professor of business management in the School of Business and Public Administration, is coordinator of the program at the School. Also working with the program at Columbia is Dr. Donald S. Holm, Jr., professor of business management and chairman of the department. Lt. Col. Ashley W. Miles, a representative of the Air Force Institute of Technology stationed at the base and who holds an M.B.A. from George Washington University, is working closely with the officer-students and the faculty at the base.

The resident director of the Minuteman Education Program at Whiteman is Dr. George W. Hardbeck, associate professor of business management and economics. Others on the resident faculty at the base are Dr. Robert A. Lynn, associate professor of business management and economics; and Dr. Donald L. Rogoff, assistant professor of business management and accountancy.

Dean Walker said that in the spring a mathematician is scheduled to be added to the faculty, and later, qualified specialists in other disciplines are to be appointed as needed for advanced courses.

Dean Walker said the establishment of the program involved problems for which "traditional practices were no guide," since the life of the Minuteman graduate student "is necessarily linked to the complex manpower schedules and technical requirements of the giant underground missiles, whereas civilian students adapt their personal life and study time to the schedules of the University."

"Dr. Cook, the coordinator, had to adopt an entirely new approach," the Dean explained. "We have, in the Air Force base program, four 12-week terms a year but offer credits in semester hours as is done under the semester system on the campus at Columbia. The officers are divided into four different groups, and those in each of the groups meet with their classes on an irregular, 'floating' schedule that usually excludes Sundays. The program is a fast moving and rigorous course of study. Should a student misplace his schedule and miss a class, he would be nearly a week behind in his studies."

Dean Walker pointed out that the advice and support of Lt. Col. Miles "are vital in coordinating activities of the students with military commanders and supporting agencies."

Dr. Hardbeck holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Illinois with specialization in labor relations, and has had extensive experience as a labor relations consultant. He has taught at Kansas State University, St. Louis University, Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, and at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Lynn also has his doctorate from the University of Illinois, and before joining the faculty at Whiteman was chairman of the Department of Economics and Business at Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn. He

Happy Homes After a Year For Soviet Space Dog Pups

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Streaker and Butterfly, two American grandpuppies of the Russian space dog Strelka, found happy homes with the two children chosen by the White House to receive them.

Now, a year later, 11-year-old Mark Bruce of Columbia, Mo., reports:

"Streaker chases a basketball around the yard and just keeps the family in stitches."

The freckle-faced youngster adds, "But Streaker gives mom fits sometimes. He'll wait until she straightens the rugs in the house and then he takes a running leap and slides on them. He also loves to eat ice cubes."

Butterfly was given to Karen House, also 11, of Westchester, Ill., who says:

"I love all animals, birds and fishes. But I love Butterfly the best."

Karen's mother, Mrs. Harold House, adds, "She's one of us. She patters around, attending to everything." Mrs. House says that Butterfly likes to ride in the family car, sleep in the kitchen and eye the big Boxer next door.

Streaker and Butterfly are the pups of Pushinka, Strelka's offspring, and Charlie, a Welsh terrier. Soviet Premier Khrushchev gave Pushinka to the late President John F. Kennedy.

The pups, part of a litter of also has experience as a consultant, and is author of a number of publications, including a book, "Basic Economic Principles," to be published this year.

Keele is undergoing extensive training in tactical range firing and weapons familiarization.

Keele, a field communications specialist in Battery C, 2d Battalion of the division's 6th Artillery near Geinhausen, Germany, entered the Army in June 1963 and arrived overseas last March.

He is a 1963 graduate of Cole Camp High School.

J. L. Shull, son of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Shull, 417 East Howard, Sedalia, has completed basic training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

The nine-week training includes naval orientation, history and organization, seamanship, ordnance and gunnery, military drill, first aid and survival.

During the training recruits receive tests and interviews which determine their future assignments in the Navy. Upon completing the program they are assigned to service schools for technical training or to ships and stations for on-the-job training in a Navy rating specialty.

Naval training produces the power in seapower by supplying qualified personnel to man the ships, planes and shore stations of today's Navy.

Phillies Nurse Big Lead; Giants, Reds Nurse Welts

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies were nursing a six-game lead today in the National League pennant race.

The San Francisco Giants and Cincinnati Reds were nursing welts.

The Phillies built their lead over second-place San Francisco by whipping the Chicago Cubs 9-5 Wednesday after the Reds handed the Giants their fourth straight loss 7-1 in the biggest beanball battle of the season.

The Reds-Giants game was still in the top of the first inning when Cincinnati's Frank Robinson was hit on the left arm by a Ron Herbel pitch. Robinson started toward the San Francisco pitcher but was restrained by Umpire Chris Pelekoudas while Giant shortstop Jim Davenport grabbed Herbel as both benches emptied.

The umpires had to step in only a few minutes later when Robinson started from first base toward Herbel. And, later, when Robinson was retired at second base on a double play, he and Davenport had a few words.

"I know when I'm getting thrown at," said an angered Robinson after the game.

"He was yelling things at me I can't even repeat," said Herbel. "I was ready to fight him."

Reds' starter Bob Purkey was hit by a John Pienzen pitch in the fourth inning, bringing a warning from Pelekoudas and an automatic fine. Purkey, meanwhile, evened the struggle by hitting Jim Hart twice.

In between, Robinson hit two homers and Chico Ruiz collected four hits in support of Purkey's six-hit pitching, pulling the Reds to within one game of the Giants in the standings. The Giants skid has brought them closer to sixth place than first.

Elsewhere, Jim Hickman's grand slam homer gave the New York Mets a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh. Houston edged the St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 on a run-producing single by Nellie Fox in the 10th inning and the Los Angeles Dodgers outslugged Milwaukee 7-6 with a 14-hit attack.

Robinson was hit by Herbel after Vada Pinson had doubled home two runs for the Reds in the first. Robinson then did some of his own hitting, slamming his 23rd homer in the third inning and No. 24 in the seventh.

Purkey brought his record to 7-7, allowing the Giants only run when he threw wild on a grounder after Hal Lanier doubled.

The Phillies got the job done in the eighth inning, overcoming a 5-4 deficit with a five-run explosion. Clay Dalrymple and Tony Taylor triggered the rally with singles before Wes Covington drove in the tying and winning runs with a pinch double.

The Cubs had snapped a 4-4 tie in the top half of the inning on singles by Joey Amalfitano, Billy Williams and Ron Santo, who earlier hit his 24th homer.

The Mets won their fourth straight — their longest winning streak of the season — when Hickman blasted a Vern Law pitch into the parking area beyond left field with the bases loaded in the sixth inning.

That was more than enough for Tracy Stallard, who had a shutout until Bill Virdon hit a two-run homer in the ninth. Stallard brought his record to 7-16 with a six-hitter.

The Colts won it in the 10th when Al Spangler singled, continued to second on Curt Flood's error and rode home on Fox' single.

The Colts tied the score in the ninth when Bob Aspromonte drove in his fourth run with a single after the Cardinals had taken the lead with four runs in their half.

Frank Howard hit his first homer in 25 days and drove in three runs for the Dodgers, who blew most of a five-run lead but held on behind Ron Perranoski's good relief pitching. Perranoski struck out Lee Maye with the bases loaded and two runs in, cutting off the Braves' final threat in the eighth inning.

The 1964 exposition will lift the lid with IMCA speedway-type auto races, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 22. The same kind of cars will close the fair, Sunday afternoon, Aug. 23, when the 10th annual Missouri Futurity, is held on the one-mile track. The opening races will be contested over the half-mile oval.

IMCA sanctioned late model stock car races will be the grandstand attraction on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 23 and again on Saturday, Aug. 29. The first series of sprints will be held on the half-mile oval, and the 100-mile non-stop race on Saturday over the one-mile course.

The Missouri Modified car championship events will be held on the half-mile track the opening Saturday night, Aug. 22 and Friday night, Aug. 28. A class "B" championship race has been added to the Senior modified classic for Friday night. The winner of the Missouri modified championship will receive an all-expense trip to Tampa, Fla. as an added prize. Midget car races, under IMCA sanction will follow the big cars, on Saturday night, Aug. 29.

Reserved seats are now on sale at the State Fair ticket office. Reserved seats are priced at $1.75 and box seats at $2.50.

Young Coups took the win for the Jaycees, with 11 strike-outs, three hits and seven walks. Ronnie Ehlers was the losing pitcher for Rotary with 12 strike-outs, four hits and 12 walks.

The Jaycees committed four errors in the third inning, allowing three runs to cross the plate for Rotary. Neither team scored in the fourth inning.

Young Coups took the win for the Jaycees, with 11 strike-outs, three hits and seven walks. Ronnie Ehlers was the losing pitcher for Rotary with 12 strike-outs, four hits and 12 walks.

In the "B" league game, Adco edged the Jaycees, 12-11.

Adco fell behind from the start, scoring only one run in the first inning. Meanwhile the Jaycees continued to score, at the beginning of the fourth, they held a seven-run edge over their opponents.

However, in the fourth inning, Adco broke loose and scored eight runs in the top, and held the Jaycees scoreless in their half.

Mike Walters took the win for Adco. Leo Lorenson was credited with the win for the Jaycees.

Two 12-year-old all-star games will be played Thursday night at Little League stadium in Liberty Park. The first game is at 6:30 p.m. and the second game at 8:30.

League trophies will be presented at 8 p.m.

Car Races Highlight State Fair

Heading the growing demand for professional auto racing, which has now grown to be America's No. 2 sport, the Missouri State Fair, will offer a diversified program of seven speed events during the 1964 exposition here from Aug. 22 to 30.

According to Secretary Chubb Ritzenthaler, added prize money, special accessory awards and merchandise will attract the greatest field of cars and drivers ever seen on the twin tracks at the Missouri State Fair.

Over $30,000 will be at stake for two IMCA speedway-type races, two late model stock car grinds, the Missouri modified championship races and a night of IMCA midget races. Afternoon events will start with time trials at 1 and the first flag dropped at 2:30. Night races will start at 8 and time trials one hour earlier.

AL Roundup

While the Chicago White Sox are rushing toward the top of the American League, the New York Yankees are having trouble.

The White Sox moved to within one-half game of first-place Baltimore Wednesday night, taking advantage of three Yankee errors for four unearned runs and a 4-2 victory. The Orioles lost to Boston 4-3 in 10 innings.

Pitcher Jim Bouton and third baseman Cleve Boyer were the Yankees who had the troubles.

The malady first appeared in the third inning after the White Sox loaded the bases with two out. Pete Ward grounded to first baseman Joe Pepitone, who tossed the ball to Bouton at first. The throw was in time, but Bouton missed the base, allowing Ray Herbert to score.

His error upset Bouton so much that he threw the ball down in disgust. As it trickled near the first base coaching box, Jim Landis, who had reached third on the first misplay, dashed home with the run that gave Chicago a 2-1 lead.

The trickles mushroomed into catastrophe in the seventh inning when Chicago scored two runs, breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

With runners at first and second and none out, J. C. Martin bunted along the third base line. Bouton grabbed the ball, but his throw to third for the force was too late. But wait. Mike Hersberger slid past the base.

Boyer alertly pounced on the runner, tagging him for an apparent out. But wait again. The ball trickled out of Boyer's glove, and the White Sox had the bases loaded.

Bouton settled down briefly, striking out Cam Carreon. Then, however, he walked Landis for one run, and Pete Mikkelsen replaced him. Don Buford ended the scoring with a sacrifice fly that scored Ron Hansen.

The loss kept the Yankees four games behind Baltimore. In other AL games, Detroit defeated Los Angeles 5-2, Minnesota downed Washington 3-1 and Cleveland outlasted Kansas City 6-4.

The Orioles also experienced difficulty with a trickling baseball. In their case it was a couple of bunts that rolled foul.

They came off the bat of Boston rookie Tony Horton in the 10th inning with Carl Yastrzemski at first. After he failed to sacrifice, Horton slammed a double into the left field corner, scoring Yastrzemski with the winning run.

Baltimore sent the game into overtime on Jerry Adair's triple and John Orsino's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning. Orsino earlier had homered for the Orioles as did Boog Powell.

Detroit grabbed sole possession of fourth place behind Don Demeter and Norm Cash. Demeter's pinch single drove in the tie-breaking run against the Angels in the seventh inning while Cash added a two-run homer in the eighth. Jim Fregosi had tied the game 2-2 with a homer in the Angels' seventh.

Colts Prove Turn-About Is Fair Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turn-about is fair play, and the Houston Colts proved it with the help of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals, recipients of Houston generosity the previous two evenings which produced two late inning victories, Wednesday night gave the Colts an 8-7 triumph in 10 innings at Houston.

Kansas City lost to the Indians 6-4 in Cleveland.

Two errors contributed to the A's downfall as Jose Azcue and Vic Davaillo accounted for five of Cleveland's eight hits and drove in five runs.

Diego Segui was the loser and Sam McDowell the winner.

The A's got six hits including a solo home run by Jim Gentile.

For a time, it looked as if the Cardinals, given victories Monday and Tuesday by Houston errors, were going to do it again.

Trailing, 6-3, in the ninth inning, they took advantage of three walks, a wild pitch, two singles and Dick Groat's bases loaded double for four runs and a 7-6 lead. Groat's hit scored three runs and tied the score and pinch-hitter Bob Skinner singled home the lead runner.

But with two out, a single, a hit batter, and Bob Aspromonte's safety, the Colts tied the count.

Then in the 10th, again with two out, Al Spangler singled and reached second when Curt Flood bobbled the ball. Nelson Fox singled home the winning run.

The Cardinals will have an open date to mull it over today before traveling to San Francisco for a weekend series.

Kansas City meets the Indians again tonight with Bob Meyer (1-4) of the A's scheduled to face Sonny Siebert (3-5).

Arnie, Jack In American Golf Classic

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Masters champion Arnold Palmer and long-hitting Jack Nicklaus, having played a practice round together, both were convinced the Firestone Course is ready to be taken during the $50,000 American Golf Classic beginning today.

Palmer, one of the four men who has conquered this 7,165 yard layout with sub par totals after four rounds in three previous classics, said the course with its par of 35-35-70 is in beautiful condition.

"I'm sure it'll take a 276 to win it," said Palmer, who fired that score to win the Classic in 1962 and then saw Johnny Pott capture first place last year with a 276 as Palmer finished second with a 280.

Nicklaus, coming off a 10-day rest from tournament competition, said, "the guy who wins it this year might do better than 276. The greens are consistent and putting will be much easier."

Palmer had a 34-34-68 in his practice round Wednesday when Nicklaus came in with a 34-35-69.

Nicklaus won the World Series last year and in 1962, picking up a $50,000 check each time.

Claims Policeman Damaged Windshield

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — a $125 damage claim against the Attorney Joseph Woods has filed city charging a policeman scratched his auto while writing out a traffic ticket.

Woods said a ring worn by patrolman William Clark nicked his windshield.

Star Role For Cara Williams

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Most recent recruit to the growing "feminine mystique" army is a tiny, dynamic redhead, Cara Williams. She has worked most of her life, and now proclaims that all women should have some sort of extra-household job.

This may or may not be a brave stand on a controversial issue. The fact in Miss Williams' case is that she is the star of a new CBS comedy series. By the long arm of coincidence, she plays a working wife.

The word "star" is used very loosely in television to designate performers ranging from featured players to one-shot guest performers. Real stardom comes when a series is named after the principal player. "The Cara Williams Show" is CBS' reward to the comedienne which comes on only her second regular TV role.

The first — still very much in evidence in re-runs — was "Pete and Gladys," which despite a slow start lasted a couple of seasons. In that one, Cara played, with style and gusto reminiscent of Lucille Ball, a misadventure-prone housewife.

This time, however, she will be a file clerk who is the secret bride of an efficiency expert. For at least the first dozen shows the jokes will be built around a company rule that forbids the employment of a married couple.

Cara herself is a good example of a woman with outside interests. During the two years of hunting for a comedy format, she took care of her children, Cathy, a teen-ager, and John Barrymore III, off-spring of her two marriages, both of which ended in divorce.

A green-eyed red head whose hair has been fortified a bit for camera purposes, Cara was brought to Hollywood from her native Brooklyn when a child because her star-struck mother wanted to put her in pictures.

Her name, Bernice Kamiat, was changed and young Cara moved on to roles in films. Although she loves comedy best and is good at it, she won an Academy Award nomination six years ago for a serious part in "The Defiant Ones."

The new series is being given every chance for success: CBS opened up a spot for it on Wednesday night, preceded by two of the most popular shows on the air, "Beverly Hillsbillies" and "The Dick Van Dyke Show," and followed by "The Danny Kaye Show." It is the best programming break of any new show on all three networks — and a heavy responsibility for the newcomer.

In Puccini's opera, "The Girl of the Golden West," the heroine plays a game of poker for the life of her lover.

Facts About Flour

No one knows where wheat originated. Wheat is so important to so many people that wars have been fought to gain control of land which will grow wheat successfully. Here in America, it is hard to imagine any meal complete without some form of wheat or wheat flour product on the table.

Wheat Types Affect Kind of Flour—Flour made from wheat is the main type used, however a limited amount is made from rye and buckwheat. Flour from wheat has superior baking qualities because it contains a type of protein called gluten which other grains do not have. It holds the gases in the dough or batter and produces a fine, tender, light product. Wheat used for flour may be the hard or soft winter wheat or hard spring wheat. Hard wheat produces a granular flour especially suited for bread baking. Soft wheat makes a soft flour well suited for cakes and pastries.

Select Flour For Intended Use—Flours also vary with the milling process. The different types and varieties of wheat are blended to yield flours for a special use, such as bread flour, pastry flour and cake flour.

All-purpose flour is made from blends that give satisfactory results for general household cooking and baking.

Enriched flour has prescribed amounts of vitamins and minerals added. Standards set are at the level of whole wheat flour. Enrichment has played an important role in the eradication of pellagra and other malnutrition diseases, especially in the south. Read labels on flour and bread packages for a clue to enrichment.

Whole wheat flour, graham flour, and entire wheat flour are synonymous. Each contains all the constituents of the cleaned wheat grains in their natural proportions.

No-sift flour. Many recipes now call for unsifted flour—but many recipes still in use were developed when all flour was sifted, and the measurements are for sifted flour. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says you must either sift before measuring or adjust the measurement to get the right amount of flour for these older recipes since there is more flour in a cup of unsifted than in a cup of sifted flour. To adjust the measurement from a sifted to unsifted flour, simply spoon flour into a dry measuring cup, level it off, and remove 2 level tablespoons.

When substituting self-rising flour for plain flour, omit the leavening and salt in the recipe for cake, cookies or bread. Use self-rising flour as you would plain flour for thickening gravy, pie filling, sauce or for dredging meat or poultry before frying. A pastry product will be light and tender rather than flaky when self rising flour is used. Remember to omit the salt.

Homemakers are discovering the new instantized flour that consists of uniform granular particles, that pours like salt, is dustless, and siftable. It does not pack and dissolves instantly in warm or cold water without lumping. It is excellent for gravies and sauces. It is advertised that it can be used interchangeably in any recipe calling for regular all-purpose flour. The new flour will cost about two cents a pound more than regular flour.

You Do Not Need a Lot of Equipment

Even when cooking equipment consists of a single gas or electric burner, you can still have meals complete and varied.

One-dish meals are one answer. Into a single pot or pan go the vegetables and the meat or other protein food of a main dish. Many hot and nourishing meals of this kind can be cooked on top of stove—such as Irish stew, braised liver or pot roast with vegetables, ham-and-vegetable or fish chowder, New England boiled dinner. To round out a one-dish meal, add a crisp salad or other raw food, bread, a beverage, and possibly a simple dessert.

When time permits, a series of dishes for a meal can be prepared on one burner. A cast-iron or cast-aluminum skillet with a tight lid is especially good for keeping one food hot while another is cooking.

For an example of this type of meal-getting, a dessert that is to be served cold would be and energy will be saved.

Nutrition Quiz

Skim milk has very little food value. False: Skim milk contains as much calcium as whole milk. The outstanding difference is that skim milk contains almost no fat, and thus the fat-soluble vitamins A and D are also missing. These will be supplied, however, by other foods in the diet. In all other respects, skim milk is a nutritious as whole milk. It contains comparable amounts of protein, riboflavin and calcium, and half the calories of whole milk.

Freezing foods destroys some of their nutritive value. False: Freezing does not destroy food value.

Toasting bread reduces its caloric content. False: Because toasted bread is somewhat drier, the water content is reduced, but the calorie count remains the same.

Enriched bread is comparable to whole wheat bread in food value. True: Iron, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin have been added to enriched bread so that it compares well with whole wheat bread. Although whole wheat may be higher in some other known nutrients and possibly in some not now known, today's white bread is made with milk solids, which add calcium, riboflavin and protein. The highly refined white flour in white bread may also make it more easily digestible.

Everything some people eat turns to fat. False: The body stores food which is consumed over and above its energy requirements. The excess may be protein, fat or carbohydrate. Thus, fat is formed in the body only when the amount of food consumed is greater than that needed for daily activities.

An older person needs fewer calories than a younger person. True: An older person no longer needs food for growth; his activity is often reduced and his energy requirement consequently less.

Fish is a brain food. False: Particular foods do not build particular types of body tissue.

It is not necessary for everyone to take vitamin supplements to be properly nourished. True: A well-balanced diet containing all the essential food groups assures the average individual of proper nourishment. Only small children and babies who need vitamins C and D, expectant and nursing mothers, and people on restricted diets need food supplements.

Because modern foods are so

DAMAGED—A fire in this garage at the Ruth Dinsmore residence, 212 West Jefferson, did approximately $900 damage to the 1955 Buick parked in the garage and to the building.

Burning trash was listed as the probable cause. The fire was extinguished at 11:22 a.m. Wednesday.

overprocessed, they may be nutritionally worthless or possibly even harmful to the body. False: This belief is greatly played up by "food quacks." In actuality many modern food processing methods preserve or restore nutritional values to foods. Fruits and vegetables are canned or frozen at the peak of goodness, nutritionally speaking, and are a good food but has no mysterious health-giving attributes. The rich their food value. Recent legislation enables the Food and Drug Administration to keep a closer check than ever before upon any possible danger from food additives.

Dollar for dollar, yogurt is no better a source of nutrients than milk. True: Yogurt is usually made from whole milk and varying amounts of milk solids to which a mixed lactic acid bacteria culture is added. It is a good food but has no mysterious health-giving attributes. The nutritive values are similar to those of whole milk and you will find yogurt is much more expensive.

Tomatoes and citrus fruits produce acid in the body. False: These foods are acid as eaten but have an ultimate alkaline reaction in the processes of digestion and metabolism in the body.

There is no difference in the nutritive quality of white and brown eggs. True: The color of the shell of an egg is determined by the breed of hen and has no relation to nutritive value.

Mrs. Cain Installed As President Of Legion Auxiliary

Mrs. W. C. Cain was installed as president of the American Legion Auxiliary at the joint installation meeting with the American Legion held at the American Legion Hall. Other officers installed were: Mrs. Nora Gardner, first vice-president; Mrs. A. E. Duff, second vice-president; Mrs. Leo Twenter, secretary; Mrs. James Bo-zarth, treasurer; Mrs. Douglas Crank, historian; Mrs. Clarence Boesch, chaplain, and Mrs. Coffelt, sergeant-at-arms.

The officers were installed by Mrs. R. R. Conn, Sr., installing past president, who was assisted by Mrs. Tom Soter, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. D. H. Neiberger, chaplain. Mrs. Conn then presented

Mrs. Nora Gardner, retiring president, with the past president's pin, and Mrs. Conn was presented a gift by Mrs. Gardner.

A social session was held following the meeting at which time members of the Legion and Auxiliary were served homemade cake and punch.

EVERYTHING'S SIMPLY PEACHY!

Recipe No. 37 made with creamy smooth MILNOT

- 1 9 inch graham cracker crust
- 3 cups sliced peaches (approximately)
- 1 cup MILNOT
- 2 egg yolks (or 1 whole egg) beaten

- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring
- dash of salt

How long has it been since you asked your neighbors over for pie and coffee? Our MILNOT Peachy-Cream Pie is delicious and easy, so why not give 'em a call? Just line graham cracker crust with sliced peaches; mix cornstarch and sugar, then beat all ingredients together and pour the mixture over peaches—taking care to coat all the top slices. Bake at 450° for ten minutes, reduce heat and bake at 350° about 30 minutes longer or until firm. Cool and serve. It's MILNOT good!

Use MILNOT wherever your recipe calls for milk or cream. It's especially good for creamy and fluffy mashed potatoes, smooth, delicious cream gravies, scrambled eggs, and cream soups. It's wonderful in coffee or cocoa. MILNOT is rich in vitamins and protein because it takes a whole quart of milk to make one can of MILNOT.

Lab For Study Of Pollution Is Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction of a $2.5 million laboratory at Columbia, Mo., to deal with river pollution has been recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Sens. Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long, Missouri Democrats, said Tuesday they had requested the project be added to the Welfare Department appropriation bill for the year that ends next June 30.

The senators and Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., said they will seek final congressional approval of the planning funds at this session of Congress.

The proposed laboratory would use research facilities of the University of Missouri. It would be one in a nationwide system authorized under the 1961 Water Pollution Control Act, and would serve the Mississippi-Missouri River drainage area.

The bill, as amended by the Senate committee, would permit $200,000 this fiscal year for planning the laboratory. Construction funds would be provided later.

Inadequacy of present facilities in the Middle West to deal effectively with water problems of the two rivers was indicated by recent fish kills, the senators said.

Poll Taking Has Its Happy Sides

NEW YORK (AP) — Some years ago, in a Broadway musical, they sang a song called "Leave My Pulse Alone," or words to that effect.

It kidded polls, pollsters, market researchers and those who attempt to measure trends and discover what people are thinking about. This of course includes newspaper reporters.

In every presidential election year, I try my hand at political pulse-taking. You have some interesting experiences, and frequently they recall that song.

For example, the elderly gentleman in Springfield, Mass., in 1956. He was the soul of courtesy when he answered the doorbell. I explained that I would like to hear his opinions about candidates, issues, etc., his Yankee features froze.

"That, sir, is an invasion of privacy," he said. "Why, I wouldn't even tell my wife what I think about those matters. Now, you get off my porch or I'll sic the dog on you."

Another time, in Passaic, N.J., a housewife made a deal with me. "I have some work to do upstairs," she said. "If you will sit here and watch junior, I'll talk to you."

So I watched junior for about 15 minutes until she returned. It wasn't a very rewarding interview.

No, she hadn't voted in the previous presidential election. Too young, No, she didn't know how she would vote this time "because I don't know what my husband thinks."

But it doesn't always work that way. In Dallas, Tex., I questioned a man about his preferences. When he left the room, his wife, whispered, "He says he's going to vote for Eisenhower, but don't you believe him."

"Why not?" I asked. "He knows I always vote opposite to the way he votes. He told you that so that I'd vote for Stevenson. But he isn't fooling me. He will vote for Stevenson and I'll vote for Eisenhower," she said.

Another time, I stood outside a factory gate in Connecticut hoping to catch the pulse of some workers. Presently one emerged. I buttonholed him.

"Listen, Mac," he said, not unpleasantly, "I had a fight with my wife this morning. I've just had another fight with the boss. Now I've got a date with a like talking to nobody about bottle of beer and I don't feel nothing."

Stock Prices Regain The 'Gun Losses'

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices have regained almost all the ground lost in their flight from the guns of August — the guns off and along the coast of North Viet Nam.

The losses were largely confined to two jittery sessions widely watched, with most of the recouping in five fairly quiet ones scarcely noted.

Once more stocks are responding more to the reports on the state of the economy than to crises in Southeast Asia, Cyprus or the Congo. And how business looks is likely to carry more weight for awhile, except for occasional emotional responses to campaign oratory.

The two bad days in the market look worse on the charts of the popular stock indexes than they actually were in dollars and cents.

For example, when the Dow Jones index of 30 industrial stocks drops one point, that doesn't mean the average loss of the 30 stocks was $1 each. The average actually slipped by something closer to 10 cents.

On Monday, Aug. 3, the Dow Jones index closed at 840.35, the final hour or so affected by the first word of the naval clash between a U.S. destroyer and North Vietnamese torpedo boats. It touched its low point Thursday, Aug. 6, closing at 823.40. On the charts this is a sharp drop of 12.95 points but not $12.95. The actual loss of the 30 blue-chip stocks averaged around $1.30.

This was unpleasant enough for holders of stocks hit by the selling waves, but it was scarcely a national catastrophe.

From the low point the index climbed back fairly steadily to close Friday, Aug. 14, at 838.81. The average price of the 30 stocks on this index thus was only about 15 cents lower than when the naval shooting was reported, although the index was 1.54 points lower.

Profit reports still coming in continue the line set earlier — the first six months of 1964 were the most profitable first half for any year. And stock buyers and stockholders like increasing profits.

Also, the cash dividends paid on stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange came to $6.3 billion in the first half, up 9.1 per cent from outlays by the same companies in the like 1963 period.

Thus the market as a whole may not have climbed as high this year as you might have supposed by looking at only your favorite index. Also it may not have been as badly shaken by the Viet Nam crisis as you may have thought at the time.

Fans Stop Keaton From Retiring

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I could retire mighty easy," says classic comedian Buster Keaton. But his public — or maybe it's Keaton — won't let him.

Buster bought a retirement home in the San Fernando Valley with the proceeds from his film biography, but he sees less of it than he'd like. The reason: The revival of the Keaton art continues to flourish.

His silent features, with nothing added but a musical score, have been drawing crowds in Europe. Buster owns 10 of the old comedies, plus numerous shorts, and plans to release them abroad and in this country.

He's busy with new films, too. He just returned from New York where he starred in an avant garde movie for Samuel Beckett, "Waiting for Godot."

Now Old Frozeface has stuck a feather in his pork-pie hat and is playing Chief Rotten Eagle in "Pajama Party," a new concoction from the makers of the beach-party pictures.

Another recent assignment: working up comedy routines for the Ice Follies.

"I tried to convince the boys to be comedians first and skaters second, but I failed," Buster sighed.

And he has made a lucrative sideline of television commercials. While in New York he appeared in a Keystone Cop sequence for Ford trucks and he has huckstered for headache remedies and other products.

His next assignment sounds like a dream. He will star in a 16-minute short for Canadian National Railways to extol the joys of railroad travel through Canada.

Returns From Tour

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev returned Tuesday after a two-week tour of farming areas, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Cuba, China Urge Negroes To Revolution

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Broadcasts from Communist Cuba and Red China have been pouring out a torrent of advice to American Negroes to take to the streets in armed revolutionary violence and even guerrilla war.

The Chinese claim Negro violence in America must be encouraged in the name of "the national liberation movement." Cuba uses "Radio Free Dixie" and a renegade American Negro, Robert F. Williams, to call for revolutionary street violence in U.S. cities.

Peking has enlisted a man called Frank Coe. A Frank Coe once was a target of a U.S. Senate investigation for alleged spying on behalf of international communism. He had been a high-paid secretary of the International Monetary Fund in the late 1940s.

Just a year ago, China's Mao Tse-tung issued a declaration urging "the world's people" — meaning the Communists — to move in on the U.S. situation. Peking now uses its advocacy of violence in America as a club in its ideological war with the Soviet Communists.

The Chinese want nonwhite people in Africa, Asia and Latin America to believe Peking is their only true friend. Red China is trying to shut the Russians out of Asia and take over revolutionary causes — the "national liberation movement" — in all underdeveloped areas.

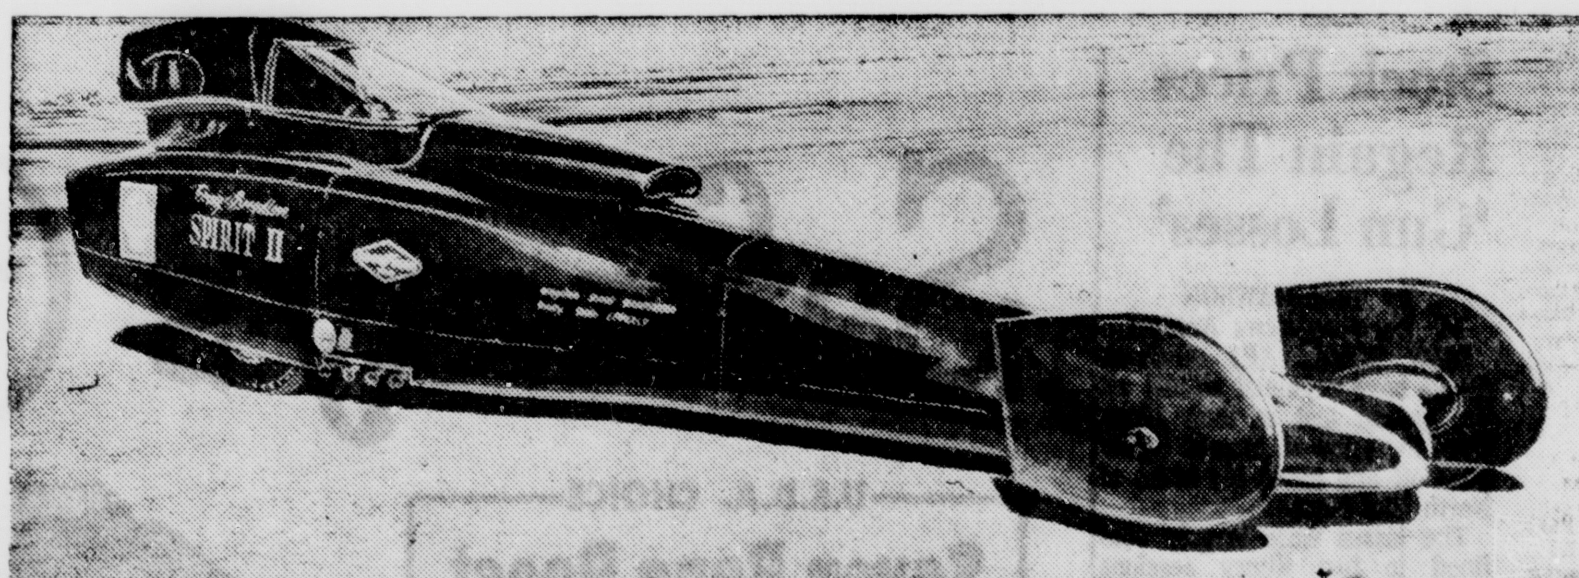

Last week, to commemorate the first anniversary of Mao's declaration, a series of rallies was held in China. One speech was delivered by "American comrade Frank Coe," as Peking radio described him.

Coe noted that Mao's declaration was widely distributed among Negroes in the United States. He told the rally American Negroes "are beginning to talk more and more about armed self-defense, about fighting for freedom by any means necessary, about guerrilla warfare and civil war."

Peking broadcasts call upon Chinese-orientated Communists in the United States to seize the Negro movement and mount a systematic series of parades, demonstrations, boycotts, strikes and violent uprisings with the use of weapons in American cities.

Monasteries Grew From Hermitages

THESSALY, Greece (AP) — The monasteries of Greece are built on mountaintops, reaching to heaven to be closer to God.

Behind the small Thessaly town of Kalambaka, rising from a black rock mountain, stand the monasteries of Meteora, the name meaning "in the air."

Meteora is a powerful picture of nature. Taking a long look, it is not hard to believe the legend that only by a rope tied to the foot of an eagle nesting on one of the peaks was the first ascent made possible.

Years ago, the monks hauled each other up and down the sheer rock in nets worked by a winch from above. One intrepid visitor is said to have asked a monk how often the rope was changed, "only when the old rope breaks" was the reply.

Today, a road runs part way up to the major monastery and steps cut out of the solid rock take a visitor to the others.

During the wars between the Serbian emperors of Trikala and Byzantium in the 14th century, the first peak seeking hermits came to Meteora seeking refuge. The hermits also have been described as draft dodgers, seeking to escape military service.

With time, the hermitages grew into monasteries and new incentive was added with the coming of Athanasius the Cenobite, who founded the Monastery of the Transfiguration in the second half of the 14th century.

He introduced more rigorous rules, one of which barred women.

The great Meteoron reached its zenith when John Cantacuzine, expelled from the throne by Byzantium, entered it as a disciple of Athanasius. Having become the largest, richest monastery, the Meteoron no longer wished to recognize authority and tried to impose its own empire. This led to a bitter struggle in the 16th century followed by a rapid decline so that only 4 of the 24 monasteries today are inhabited.

An old monk, one of the few remaining, takes visitors around the 16th century Church of the Transfiguration, which contains rare frescoes.

On the nearby peak of Ipsolotera is the deserted Monastery of Manuscripts, whose inhabitants once produced beautifully illuminated lives of the saints. On the bare rock, set at an almost impossible height, a fresco of the virgin and child is still discernible.

The tragedy of Meteora is that most of the rare icons, books and frescoes have been stolen or are beyond repair from decay.

Prison Art Show Near At Leavenworth

By JOHNNY JOHNSTON
The Leavenworth Times
For The Associated Press

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — There'll be no selection of the "Picasso of the Prison" but another record turnout of patrons is anticipated for the third annual show and sale of prison art at the U.S. Penitentiary here Sept. 6.

Leavenworth, a big name in the big time of the big houses, is making another name for itself with the day-long art exhibit.

More than 1,000 paintings, sketches and drawings will be displayed for the artists, who don't go out for the show themselves.

The brush men, who've all had at least one brush with the law, remain anonymous. The paintings for the most part are unsigned. One crops up now and then with a first name in the corner, but the man's identity is hidden.

Whether bank robber or check artist, the boys love to paint. Penitentiary officials are happy with the arrangement. If a man is painting, he's not idle, and if he's not idle he's not thinking about a way to break out, supposedly.

Last year's sale turned about $6,000 for the prisoner-artists. The sale is believed to be the only one of its kind in the nation. A year ago it attracted an estimated 4,000 persons. The paintings are displayed in the Penitentiary Guards Club building, not far from the main institution on U.S. 71 north of the city.

The Revolutionary War Battle of Bunker Hill was not fought on Bunker Hill but on adjacent Breed's Hill, which was in Charlestown, Mass.

Russian Disaster In The Great War

By PRESTON GROVER
MOSCOW (AP) — The Russian armies of Tsar Nicholas, massive and badly armed, marched against Germany to help the Allies as World War I opened 50 years ago this month.

For Russia, the war was just one valiant disaster after another.

With French defenses crumbling under the first German thrust in the west, the Russians launched an attack to take off the pressure. One Russian army under Gen. Paul Rennenkampf plunged into East Prussia on Aug. 17, 1914. Another, under General Alexander Samsonov, struck across the southern frontier of Russia well to the rear of the German army.

A panicked German general ordered retreat, but before he could put it into effect he was withdrawn and the great team of Von Hindenburg and Ludendorff came into command.

The battles cost the Russians 250,000 soldiers killed or taken prisoner. Russia lost huge numbers of cannon, machine guns and rifles, irreplaceable from her limited arms factories.

Nevertheless, the Russians had forced the Germans to withdraw two corps of crack troops from the western front, slowing down the thrust of the Germans just at the hour of the first battle of the Marne in front of Paris.

On the Austrian front the story was different. The Austrian forces gained some territory but were hit by massed Russian forces, more skillfully handled. The Austrians retreated and again drew Germans from the western front.

Thus again the Russians, in costly gestures, gave relief to the retreating French armies.

The big Russian steam roller of massed troops soon was aligned again to move against the Germans, with Grand Duke Nicholas pushing seven armies to the attack.

The Russian pressure caused four more German corps to be pulled from the west to the eastern front, again taking the heat off the French and English.

For the Russians, the fighting had drained away their reserve munitions, and the factory system could not make up the loss. Collapse advanced for arms Sunday Aug. 16.

When he was most needed at home, the Tsar disregarded the advice of his closest counsellors and took command of the troops in the field. Behind him he left a disordered government largely controlled by his mystically hysterical wife, Alexandra.

A revolt in 1905, after the defeat by the Japanese, caught the Tsar by surprise and forced a limited parliament upon him. Then, barely a decade later, his war-weary country thrust him out in the midst of a war with scarcely a gesture of struggle.

The pitiable family was led from palace to palace until they were shot to death on Bolshevik orders in 1918 in the basement of a sunny terraced building in Ekaterinenburg, now Sverdlovsk, in the Ural Mountains.

Then the Bolshevik revolution struck, it came so fast even the revolutionaries were unprepared. Late in February, by the old calendar, March 8 to 11 by the present one, bread and coal riots broke out in Petrograd, now Leningrad. Troops were sent to restore order. Instead they joined the rioters.

On March 12, the Duma, or Russian parliament, brushed aside an imperial decree dissolving it and set up a provisional government. On March 15 Nicholas abdicated in favor of his brother, Duke Michael. The duke resigned next day. The royal family tried to escape to England, but didn't make it.

The provisional government headed by Alexander Kerensky lasted eight months.

Lenin was in Switzerland at the time of the revolution. German authorities put a train at his disposal and shuttled him through into the revolution, hoping he would help take Russia off their backs. He did.

On the night of Oct. 25, old calendar, or Nov. 7, by the present one, a group of Red guards marched through an unguarded back door into the Winter Palace where the provisional government had been sitting day and night trying to stem the debacle. Boldly the troops marched up the stairs and into the council chamber.

"In the name of the military-revolutionary committee, I declare you arrested," said the leader.

Thus ended an epoch, and began another.

The provisional government members were led away. Kerensky had failed. Now he's at Stanford University, editing the papers of the period.

Once in power, Lenin appealed to all sides to stop fighting. It was an appeal heeded by no one except the Germans. They signed a peace treaty at Brest-Litovsk, March 3, 1918. To force the Russians to accept their terms, they occupied a large part of the Ukraine and the Baltic coast as far north as Riga.

Russia was out of the war. Demoralized Russian troops lynched their last commander in chief, General Dukhonin. Sailors threw their officers into the Baltic and beat them to death in the water.

Lenin led the Bolshevik revolutionaries in a civil war that slowly brought Russia under control. Then they launched Russia into a place in the world that continues daily to call for new reckonings by the West as to what really was let loose in that cold, dismal night in Petrograd when the Red guards swarmed up the back stairs of the Winter Palace.

About Town

Mrs. W. W. Johnson, 1408 South Osage, has returned from a two week trip to the west coast. On the way there she saw Painted Desert and Petrified Forest. In Los Angeles, she visited Disneyland, Marineland, and went to Knott's Berry Farm. She also visited her aunt, Mrs. Margaret Whitmyer, who is in a nursing home in Fowler, Calif. On the return trip she saw Yellowstone National Park, Mount Rushmore, the Badlands and the Black Hills, and other sights of interest. The last stop of main interest was Boy's Town, Omaha, Neb.

Good Times Seen Into Next Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Business still tends to shrug off this year's political campaigning as unlikely to brake the momentum of the economic upswing.

Growing involvement of government in business affairs at all levels makes any political campaign strike close to home nonetheless. And this year's campaign seems more confusing at the moment and more likely to grow bitter than any for some time past.

But even so, the political campaign so far is showing no signs of upsetting business confidence or changing business plans for expansion and increased production schedules.

For one thing, for many years now the leading parties have been markedly divided. Both Republican and Democratic members of Congress have been considered friends of business, while others of each party have been classed as troublesome or doubtful at the best.

The split in both parties is deeper this year, and more confusing. And so is the split in the loyalties of businessmen themselves.

At the ballot boxes in November there seems likely to be more crossing over from traditional lines than for many a year. A number of business leaders who have always voted Republican say they favor the Democrats this year. Many staunch Democrats may be voting Republican.

In both cases there will be other considerations than the interests of business itself that will affect their decisions.

But those more or less on the sidelines of the fierce political battle know that in most presidential election years the course of the economy already has been set. And the campaign — even its outcome — has had little visible effect on that course.

The stock market often reacts sharply — but usually for a short period only — to campaign surprises and election results. The course it was taking, or seemed likely to take in the future, has varied only slightly because of political battles, over the long run.

All this is probably one reason so many business firms this spring and summer have announced plans for increased spending for new plants or improvements. The ability of the economy to surmount political oratory also is back of the predictions by many top business executives that they see good times extending well into next year.

NEW DEMOCRATIC PARTY EMBLEM ???

EMBLEM FOR DEMS?—Down with the Democratic donkey, says George Hamid Jr., an Atlantic City, N.J., businessman. And up with the diving horse. Hamid has formed a committee dedicated to promoting a diving horse as a replacement for the donkey. The diving horse, it should be told, is an entertaining event at the Atlantic City boardwalk. Hamid must be kidding.

Battle Lines Are Drawn

Pettis county is destined to have a lively general election campaign this fall when two stalwart leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties go into high gear.

Reins of leadership in this activity were turned over once more by the Democratic Central committee to Henry C. Salveter, and by the Republican Central committee to Miss Hazel Palmer. Both in and out of politics the two attorneys have state-wide as well as county stature.

For Chairman Salveter this will be his fourth time to serve in that capacity. Miss Palmer was county chairman 22 years ago. Both have had experience as strenuous campaigners in their own behalf — Salveter as a primary candidate for Representative in Congress in 1936 against Reuben T. Wood; and Miss Palmer as general election candidate for the U. S. Senate in 1958 against Stuart Symington.

Both party organizations in Pettis county need some immediate needle and thread work done on their britches and half sole jobs on their footwear before taking off on the campaign trail. Indications that these repair jobs are already being attended to is the selection of the two party chairmen.

The recent primary fracas between the supporters of Warren Hearnes and Hilary Bush for nomination for Governor of Missouri in which Hearnes was the victor, left some tattered habiliments in the Bush closet, not to mention ruffled and quivering sensibilities.

To repair the damage and assuage tender feelings, the Democrats decided to place this restorative assignment into the capable hands of Chairman Salveter.

Pettis County Republicans have had somewhat of a different problem—an anxiety neurosis complicated by an anemic binge. The unaffected ones who sense victory ahead express faith that Miss Palmer as chairman has the tonic to remedy the GOP lackadaisical attitude. Republicans are expected to respond to her vow: "We're going to put life into the Republican party in Pettis county."

So, if every thing turns out as expected under the aggressive leadership of the two parties the days ahead prior to the November election may bring some old-fashioned and spicy political campaigning in Pettis County. GHS

2 Veep Candidates Have Soft Spots

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—An emissary from Sen. Hubert Humphrey, senior senator from Minnesota, recently approached Eugene McCarthy, junior senator from Minnesota, to suggest that Gene step aside in the race for President Johnson's running-mate.

"Where do you want me to step?" replied McCarthy. "If I go to the White House and tell Johnson 'I'm out of the running,' he's going to say, 'who said you were in the running?'"

"Just explain where and how you want me to step."

This highlights the fact that the two senators from Minnesota are among the highest on the long list of those available for the Democratic vice presidential nomination. In fact, both are so "available" that they have hired public relations firms.

Humphrey has retained Ruder and Finn, which has adopted the strategy of pushing him hard as the man with the most experience, the most knowledge, the most campaign fire. McCarthy is using White, Herzog, and Nee, which has adopted the opposite strategy. Their advice is that McCarthy can't compete with the senior senator from Minnesota in publicity, therefore he should play it coy. Probably the advice given to both is correct.

Despite their rivalry, Humphrey and McCarthy remain very good friends. The two senators, incidentally, are extremely able, very dedicated men, both close to President Johnson. But each has some political soft spots.

McCarthy's Soft Spot

The public doesn't know it, but McCarthy happens to be the one Senate liberal who has consistently voted for the big oil companies. Time after time when his Democratic colleagues, Sens. Paul Douglas, Ill., and Joe Clark, Pa., would stage their annual battle to knock out the 27½ per cent depletion allowance oil-and-gas loophole, McCarthy would line up on the other side.

Once he simply remained in the Senate restaurant, drinking coffee, refusing to come up to vote.

McCarthy worked with the liberals on almost everything except oil and gas. And, since he occupies a strategic post on the Senate finance committee which votes on taxes, it has long been assumed that he got this coveted place only after an advance pledge of loyalty to the oil and gas politicians.

Gene was elected in 1958, a year when the oil and gas lobbyists were trying hard to sew up votes in advance and when they sent out to Utah to offer hard-pressed Frank Moss, Democratic candidate for the Senate, $10,000 in campaign funds if he would promise to vote their way. Moss turned the tempting offer down.

McCarthy was close to Johnson when the

Business Too Good

Children love to set up store in the summer time. They sell lemonade, cool-ade, cookies, popcorn and even pot holders. The Kennedy children at Hyannis Port, Massachusetts, are no different, but their project was different. With orange crate counters, the children offered postcards, souvenirs, medallions and other Kennedy mementoes for the benefit of the Kennedy Memorial Library.

Unfortunately business was too good. The word got around among the tourists that they could have a look at the Kennedy youngsters at their sidewalk sales booth. Traffic became snarled, and the police had to step in and the young Kennedys, Lawford's, Smith's and Shriver's had to go home but not empty handed. They earned 48 dollars for Uncle Jack's Library, but they were too famous to stay in business.

latter was Senate majority leader. The two are good friends and would work well together as president and vice president. However, the president might shy away from having an oil-gas senator on the ticket when he himself long championed the oil-gas industry as senator from Texas.

Hubert's Soft Spot

Sen. Humphrey's weak spot is diametrically opposite. He's in the doghouse with southerners who like McCarthy—chiefly because Humphrey precipitated a southern walkout by delivering a fiery civil rights speech at the 1948 convention. The big issue was whether the southerners would agree in advance to support the Democratic ticket.

The south hasn't forgotten this battle, and the other day old memories were revived when Americans for Democratic Action wrote a letter against the seating of Mississippi and other southern delegates at Atlantic City unless they permitted Negroes to register and vote.

Humphrey didn't know the letter was being sent. But his name as a vice president of ADA was on the letterhead.

Politics being the rough, tough game that it is, this letter could conceivably upset the vice presidential chances of one of the ablest and best qualified humanitarians in the Senate.

Lobbyist in the Know

President Johnson is playing it so close to his chest regarding his choice of running-mate that, though he talks to Humphrey several times a day, he hasn't discussed the vice presidency with him. It's reported that the president hasn't made up his mind.

However, O. Roy Chalk, the shrewdest lobbyist in Washington has.

Chalk is the bus and transit mogul who, early in 1952, hired Col. Gordon Moore, Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law, on the supposition that Ike would become president.

Col. Moore was then on his financial uppers. But, thanks to the job from Chalk, he was able to pay off the mortgage, acquire a Virginia farm, and even go in for horse-breeding. Chalk, in turn, acquired the Washington Transit System, an air line to Puerto Rico, and was able to remove all street cars from Washington streets. He has also been able to block a Washington subway—unless he controls and operates it.

Partly as a result of this and of Chalk's exhaust-exuding buses, Washington has the highest ratio of poisonous air pollution of any city save Los Angeles.

However, the likeable and affable Roy is already beginning to prepare for his political future. Being the most expert straddler of the donkey and the elephant in public life, Chalk last week gave a big jamboree for the man he figures will be Lyndon's running-mate—Hubert Humphrey.

The World Today

Fortunes: Another Log On the Fire

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Now there's another log on the fire before the presidential campaign even starts. This time it's the private fortunes of the presidential candidates.

Less than two weeks ago, Sen. Barry Goldwater through his bank made public figures on his wealth. Johnson did the same on his wealth Wednesday through an accounting firm.

Within a few hours the Republican vice presidential candidate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, said the size of Johnson's fortune makes his integrity subject to "some question."

And Goldwater's handpicked chairman of the Republican National committee, Dean Burch, questioned the way the accounting firm had arrived at its figures on Johnson's financial worth.

He called it "most peculiar" and said the Republicans would make it an issue in the campaign.

The campaign isn't supposed to start until September but already Goldwater has called Johnson a "phony." Miller has questioned his integrity and Johnson has charged them with making false and reckless statements. That's pretty rough going for so early in the game.

It has taken some weeks for Johnson and Goldwater to get around to making public figures on their finances.

But in the 1952 campaign the two candidates — Adlai E. Stevenson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower — waited much longer before reporting to the public on their income.

On Aug. 11 Time magazine estimated the wealth of Goldwater and his wife at $1.7 million. And on Aug. 13 a Phoenix, Ariz., bank which administers the Goldwater trust accounts said the value was $1.7 million.

An official of the bank — the Valley National Bank — said Goldwater's income last year, including his $22,500 senate salary, was $65,000.

On June 9 the Washington Star reported the Johnson family holdings were worth an estimated $9 million.

On July 7 an accounting firm hired by Johnson was instructed by the President to audit the records of his family for the 10½ years from Jan. 1, 1954 to July 31, 1964.

Meanwhile, Life had been doing its own digging into Johnson's finances and said that in his years on the public payroll since the 1930s he had grown notably wealthy. Life estimated the family worth at $14 million.

Wednesday by Johnson's order the accounting firm he hired — Haskins and Sells — publicly announced the Johnson family wealth at $3,484,098.

There are different ways of figuring wealth. If the book value is used the wealth could be presented as many times lower than the market value.

At a news conference at Roslyn, N.Y., Miller was asked if he thought the wealth of the President's family would be a campaign issue.

He said: "I would hope always that integrity in office and morality in office would be an issue. There would be some question about the integrity of a man who has been on the public payroll in a full time job for 30 years and during that time he is accumulating a personal fortune in excess of $14 million."

It was not clear whether Miller was aware of the much lower figure released by the accounting firm.

In calling the accounting of Johnson's wealth "most peculiar," Burch told a news conference the approximately $3.5 million figure of the accounting firm was "incredibly low."

He said the way the total value of Johnson's assets was arrived at was "like listing the value of Manhattan island at $25."

Democrat Pick-ups

QUITE SOMETIME before, when she thought she was going to need a cake for some occasion coming up, a woman made one and put it in the freezer just in case she wouldn't have time to bake when she really needed it. She didn't ice it. She thought when the time came she would put the icing on. Whatever she had made the cake for in the first place didn't materialize and she just left it in the freezer.

One day she decided she and her husband might as well eat that cake. So she got it out. She had a box of icing on hand that she wasn't familiar with. She read the directions on the box, opened it, looked out the envelope inside. She went right by directions, added milk, cooked it, did all sorts of things that the box said to do. It looked funny, and it tasted funny. It wasn't sweet at all, so she added sugar. She did everything she could think to do to it — but it was a mess.

It didn't matter too much, she thought, since it was just for her and her husband. So she spread the icing on as best she could and started to throw the box away. Just as she did she noticed that there was another envelope in the box, and pulled it out and read the directions on it. That was what was the matter. She had put the milk in the wrong mixture and had cooked the wrong mixture. She tried it all over again, added the milk to the one she had just found and cooked it according to directions. Then she put the second mixture on over the other mixture and they ate the cake. It wasn't exactly the way to put the icing on. It was supposed to be stirred together some way. But as long as all of it got on the cake, what difference did it make? — H. L.

A FAMILY with six children, one a three-year-old, "Duffy," who likes to eat better than anything else, were on the way to Sedalia to see grandmother. Enroute they stopped at a motel, which was something new for "Duffy." He went all through it looking it over and then, with a very distressed look on his face, he went to his father.

"Daddy," he said in a worried voice, "where's the kitchen?" — H. L.

Probing Systematic Thefts of Garments

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An investigation began Wednesday into the systematic theft of $29,000 in men's furnishings from the Ripley Clothing Store in downtown St. Louis.

Police said one or more employees were believed involved in the thefts, which occurred during the past nine months.

Acid Plays Important Part in Ability to Recall

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Q — Why is it that I can read an article or listen to a speech and understand it perfectly at the time but later can't remember any of it? Is it lack of attention or do I need some kind of vitamin or mineral?

A — Lack of total concentration and fatigue undoubtedly play a part in some examples of poor recall. It is now believed that ribonucleic acid (RNA) also plays an important part in our memory. This chemical is manufactured by the body, but in elderly persons a deficiency may develop. This, coupled with hardening of the cerebral arteries, would account for the increased trouble older persons have in this respect.

Dr. D. E. Cameron in Montreal has tried giving injections of RNA in the veins of aged patients over a period of two weeks. He found a definite improvement in memory as a result. Giving RNA by mouth also caused some improvement but not as much as when the chemical was injected. This treatment is still considered experimental.

Q — Is trichomoniasis a venereal disease? What can be done for it?

A — Since trichomoniasis is commonly transmitted by sexual contact it is technically a venereal disease, but many persons harbor the germ without showing any symptoms. Furthermore it is not a serious health problem and does not endanger the offspring as in the case with other sexually transmitted infections.

Trichomoniasis is the cause of the white vaginal discharge known as leukorrhea.

This was extremely hard to get rid of until the advent of metronidazole (Flagyl). It is important for both husband and wife to take the drug at the same time if reinfection is to be prevented.

Q — My brother died of a melanoma following removal of a large brown mole from his shoulder. Now his 9-year-old daughter has a similar mole on her shoulder. I have heard that if the mole is removed before she reaches puberty there is no danger. Is this true?

A — It is impossible to predict from the appearance of a brown mole on a child whether it will ever become malignant. Since most of them will not if they are let alone, it is better not to remove them at any age unless there is evidence that they are malignant or they are in a location that is subject to constant irritation as from a shoulder strap, collar or belt. In any case it is usually better to delay the decision about removing a mole until after puberty.

In an adult a brown mole should be carefully examined by the family doctor at regular intervals of about 12 months.

Pesky Wisdom Teeth Present Many Problems

By William Lawrence, D.D.S.,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Mrs. H. is a tall, attractive woman, about 35. Except for her wisdom teeth, she has a full set of teeth which are in good "occlusion"; that is, upper and lower teeth are lined up well and fit together in proper balance.

Her chief complaint is pain in the right hinge of her jaw, or as dentists call it, the right temporomandibular joint. This pain "sometimes comes during eating, but usually after finishing a meal. My jaw aches and pain shoots up the side of my head giving me a headache."

Examination showed that Mrs. H. was missing three wisdom teeth. From X-rays it was seen that these teeth were still embedded in the jawbone. The fourth wisdom tooth, the lower left one, was fully grown. In fact, it had grown just a bit higher than the tooth in front of it. This happens when there is no tooth directly above to stop growth. It's explained by the "theory of continual eruption of teeth."

When Mrs. H. bit into an apple, or a sandwich, or even chewed gum, the overgrown tooth tripped against the upper 12-year molar. This put continual pressure and torque on the T.M. joint, eventually disturbing its normal movements and causing her aches and pains.

Proper treatment for Mrs. H.

was to pull out this overgrown wisdom tooth. Her dentist and physician decided against the extraction because she was 8 months pregnant. Therefore, the offending tooth was reshaped and reduced by grinding in order to avoid tripping on the upper tooth. This was a simple and painless procedure and gave relief until after her baby was born. Then, the tooth was extracted.

Another example of T.M. joint difficulty caused by tripping occurs when an upper molar tooth is extracted and not replaced with a bridge. Because of "continual eruption," the lower molar opposite grows into the space and becomes higher than the other teeth in the jaw.

This overgrown tooth gets locked behind the nearest upper tooth and tripping occurs with almost every movement of the jaw. This puts the T.M. joint under continual stress, resulting in symptoms such as: clicking and snapping of the jaw, pain and tenderness over the joint, and neuralgic annoyances such as headaches, burning of the tongue and itchy palate.

Treatment: Reduce and reshape the offending tooth by grinding, and replacing the missing tooth with a bridge. Of course, every case is different and must be decided on by your dentist.

Stopping Gym Accidents

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: In regard to the letter "Gym Teacher Charged with Murder of an Anatomy," I have this to say: I doubt if all the reported accidents chalked up in that particular unit were valid. The mother should have checked with the school nurse.

I have taught tumbling, trampolines and gymnastics to beginning, intermediate and advanced students for years without a single accident. Accidents I have heard about in other situations were nine times out of 10 caused by the failure of a student to follow instructions. Also, too many students claim injuries just to be excused from physical exertion or from messing up their hairdos.

If, however, this girl has a valid fear of an apparatus, she should talk it over with her instructor. The instructor will either eliminate her activities on the apparatus or help her overcome fear by modifying the stunts.

I would not advise this mother to seek a medical excuse on such phony knowledge she has of the situation. First of all, I have never heard of students jumping off a springboard over a table. Secondly, the mother said a "smashed" nose, which leads me to think the girl bruised her nose rather than broke it.

My, how easy it is for a columnist to sit back in her chair and recommend an excuse from physical activity without the barest of qualifications to make such a decision for the future well-being of this girl.

I challenge you to print my letter or a retraction of your answer. Also, please state the authorities from whom you obtained your decision.—A PHYSICAL EDUCATOR

ANSWER: Although I can appreciate your viewpoint, I'm maintaining my original position.

I know that serious accidents do happen in tumbling and gymnastics because I've personally seen some results therefrom — a neck brace, an arm sling, and crutches, for example. It's a credit to you that none have occurred in your classes!

As for the girl in question, her doctor is certainly better qualified than her instructor to make final judgment regarding her well-being.

The authority for my decision is my own family doctor—who has discussed similar situations with several physical educators.

PLENTY OF eat IN THE meat WITH "Super-Right" PORK LOINS!

The EAT in the MEAT that you get in a "Super-Right" pork loin begins way back with the selections of A&P expert buyers and continues under constant quality control until you buy. Only tender, young, corn-fed porkers will do. Heavy hogs are too wasteful. Then, there's the "Super-Right" method of cutting pork loins that insures full value. No center meat is ever removed from half loins. Center cuts are just that — only choice center meat. And you never get just "ends" if you buy less than a half loin. You get a full 7-rib portion or a loin portion with the tenderloin included. Both have plenty of EAT in the MEAT. This same care goes into our beef, lamb, veal and poultry, as well as pork. That's why every cut is guaranteed to please you — or your money back! Give A&P a try this week.

Ham Network Aids Latin Doctors

By BASIL C. RAFFETY
OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Six-seventeen a.m., Central Standard Time, Monday.

Dick Cunningham, a petroleum engineer, slips out of his bedroom and heads for the basement of his split-level suburban Omaha home.

Closeting himself in a small room filled with short-wave radio equipment and signs labeling it station K-zero-HHP, he tunes his receiver to 14330 kilocycles and listens as he sips a cup of coffee.

Dr. Guss Salley To Entertain 1,500 'Babies'

If kissing babies can win elections, Dr. Guss Salley may be a shoo-in for re-election as representative to the Missouri General Assembly from Benton County. He has reserved the Warsaw courthouse square for 11 a.m. Aug. 22 to entertain 1,500 "babies" he has delivered in Benton County since 1939.

Those 1,500 deliveries might be called an encore, because between 1925 and 1939, he delivered 1,500 babies in Manhattan, Kansas.

Dr. Guss, as Benton Countians know him, delivered his first county baby in 1939, but dates his practice from 1940.

One of his sets of twins was delivered 125 miles apart, making them national headline news. One twin was born in Warsaw, the other, 26 hours later, in Kansas City.

The most popular birthdate in Benton County is July 29, with 13 children delivered on that date. There have been twins for every 79th mother. Two babies have Feb. 29 birthdays.

Dr. Guss has invited all the "babies" to bring along their relatives, including the fathers, all of whom, he says, survived. He promises "all my babies" free refreshments and entertainment.

ham operators in the Western Hemisphere come on the air and check in with K4NAA, the Naval Reserve amateur radio station at Arlington, Va., which is Monday's control station on the Intercontinental Traffic Network.

At 7 a.m., Cunningham picks up his microphone.

"K4NAA this is K-zero HHP, Omaha. We are ready to make our announcement."

"Go ahead, Omaha."

"This is K-zero-HHP, Kay Zero Hotel Hotel Papa, Omaha. We have medical doctors here, specialists who will be glad to consult with any doctors in Central America or South America who wish to talk to them. Give us a call and we will help you."

"Stand by, K-zero-HHP, while Mexico City repeats your announcement in Spanish."

In Managua, Nicaragua, Andy Wiesner is waiting for this announcement.

"K-zero-HHP, this is YNIAW. I have Dr. Luis Favili here. He wants to talk to an internal medicine specialist."

"Roger, YNIAW. Let's move up 10 kc, Andy, and I will get the telephone patch made."

"Roger, up ten."

Cunningham dials an Omaha telephone and Dr. William J. Dickerson answers.

"Doctor, we have our contacts all set up with a doctor in Nicaragua who would like to talk to you."

Then Andy comes back on the air to introduce Dr. Favili to Dr. Dickerson and "Operation Hippocrates," Omaha's daily emergency medical advisory service, is under way.

Amateur radio logbooks are filled with reports of doctors who have responded to medical emergencies via radio, but originators of "Operation Hippocrates" say it represents among the first attempts to provide daily doctor-to-doctor consultation service by radio.

From 7 to 7:15 a.m. every day except Sunday an Omaha ham operator, manning a station powerful enough to reach anywhere in the Americas, stands by to handle emergency medical traffic.

So far, 10 Omaha doctors have agreed to accept these emergency calls whenever their specialties are involved. These include general surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, internal medicine, heart, dermatology, orthopedic surgery, eye, ear, nose and throat, pediatrics, and general practice.

"We have hopes of being able to call any doctor in Omaha," says Dr. Stanley Bach, the orthopedist and one of the prime movers in the project.

The idea for "Operation Hippocrates" grew out of a medical emergency in April involving a tanker five days out of Caracas with a seriously ill first mate.

Hugh Tinley, a property management executive who developed a disaster radio service for the local Red Cross chapter, intercepted the distress call and made a "phone patch" to the home of Dr. Lynn Thompson — another ham. Dr. Bach was on the air with his own radio and together the two doctors diagnosed the mate's illness and prescribed medication from the ship's well-stocked sick bay.

Dr. Bach says what followed was Tinley's idea and Tinley says it was Dr. Bach's idea. But by July, the plans were completed and ham operators began spreading the word that any doctor in Latin America could reach Omaha doctors for consultation by radio.

The most important step was enlisting the help of the Intercontinental Traffic Network, a group of amateurs concerned principally with relaying messages between the Americas. It operates daily at 14330 kilocycles.

Philip J. Craig, Hollywood, Fla., real estate man, K4CRU, lined up other net control stations including K4NAA, X1-EFFE in Mexico City, and KZ5-VR, Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, asking them to listen for calls from remote and less powerful stations.

If the Latin-American station

ADDED SPACE — The registration of 865 horses in the State Fair Horse Show this year created a space problem, and the solution was the addition of two huge tents for the additional horses. One tent is 210x60 feet in size and the other is 180x60 feet. There were 700 horses registered in 1963, the largest registration, at that time in history of the fair.

doesn't have enough power to break into the chatter of the more powerful stations, net control does it for him. Existence of this net was one of the principal reasons the Omahans felt their medical consultations are hard to come by and radio is the chief source of communication with the out-many doctors in Latin America side.
